TOSSED MATCH SETS SURFACE OF STREAM AFIRE

Several Scrambling to Escape From Smoke-Filled Tube Under Grand Bl. Viaduct, Fall Into Flaming Sewage.

SIX RESCUED BY FIREMEN

Eight in Hospital Seriously Hurt — Manhole Covers Blown Off in Radius of Half Mile and Windows Are Shattered.

The PWA workmen were burned eight of them seriously, when an oily substance on the surface of water in the Mill Creek sewer under the Grand boulevard viaduct was ignited by a discarded match soon after noon today.

Two muffled explosions followed the fire, which spread quickly along the water in the sewer. Workmen trapped in the sewer, which is 18 feet high and 20 feet across, scrambled for the exit shaft, just east of the viaduct.

Several of them fell from the slippery runways, on which they had been working, and were burned as they struggled to get out of the water, waist deep.

Firemen Rescue Six. Five made their way out of the smoke-filled, blackened by flames and in a state of collapse. Six others were unable to get to the surface and remained until rescued by firemen, who used gas masks and oxygen tanks, and lowered them to the surface.

Several thousand spectators gathered, attracted by the noise of the two explosions, which were heard over a radius of half a mile, and smashed windows in buildings in the vicinity of Grand boulevard and the viaduct. Hundreds of others gathered in the railroad yards below.

Story of Man Who Escaped. The following account of the fire was given by one of the men who escaped with minor burns.

Twelve or 13 men entered the sewer at the afternoon shift, which began at 5 o'clock. I took a match at the foot of the shaft, where I have been handling buckets of garbage and other materials, and they are taken up from the floor of the sewer. We had been keeping a fire while repair work was going on.

Match Starts Fire. The minute that match hit the water there was a big burst of fire, and a hissing sound. The fire ran along the water, east and west, and then to the west. Practically all of the other men were, I guess, all of them scrambled along the slippery runways, and I yelled and they took it easy. But they were scrambling and some of them fell into the water, right into the flames.

Several of them to get their heads above the water, but I guess they were frantic. They struggled in the water, and got back to the surface.

All this time the fire kept getting bigger and the place was filled with smoke. I guess I was about the first man up the ladder. A few minutes later police and firemen came, and we were sent to the City Hospital.

FATHER COUGHLIN NOT TO LEAD JUSTICE GROUP

Says He Will Retire From Its Political Phases and Be Its "Teacher, Interpreter."

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, April 26.—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin said today that his National Union for Social Justice would not be represented at the Senator Huey Long-Milo Reno meetings at Des Moines Saturday.

At the same time Father Coughlin announced that as soon as the National Union organization is completed he intends to withdraw from active participation in its affairs, including its political phases. Officers of the national organization, he said, will be named before the next state meeting, to be held at Cleveland on May 8.

"With the naming of the national officers I will be in a position to retire from the organization and its political phases," Father Coughlin said, "and be the teacher and interpreter."

The National Union for Social Justice, he said, supports the objectives of the National Farmers' Union rather than those of Milo Reno's National Farm Holiday Association.

HELD IN DETROIT AS SWINDLER OF ST. LOUIS WOMAN

Lloyd H. Kingsbury, Confidence Man, Charged With Defrauding Miss Ethel Ratz of $3334.

SHE MISTOOK HIM FOR ACQUAINTANCE

Spoke to Him in Street—He Accepted Her Identification and Got Cash for 'Investment.'

Lloyd H. Kingsbury, for 25 years known to police throughout the country as a confidence man, was not the one to neglect the opportunity offered to him in St. Louis last month when a woman, mistaking him for the uncle of an acquaintance, spoke to him on the street.

How diligently Kingsbury cultivated the opportunity became known today with his arrest in Detroit, Mich., on a mail fraud warrant charging that he had obtained $3334 from Miss Ethel Ratz, 4932 Murdoch avenue.

It was Miss Ratz who had greeted Kingsbury early in March when they met on a downtown street and she mistook him for her friend's uncle. Kingsbury, as the story is told by Postoffice Inspector A. F. Burt, did nothing to disillusion her, but on the contrary accepted an invitation to her home, and spoke affectionately of his supposed niece.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED BECAUSE BAILIFF PRAYED BEFORE JURY

Oklahoma City Man Saved From Electric Chair by Appellate Court Ruling.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 26.—Because a minister-bailiff uttered a prayer at the request of jurors, Lloyd Grable, 37 years old, was saved today from death in the electric chair. The prayer was uttered while the jury was deliberating the case of Grable, who was convicted of participating in the holdup of the First National Bank at Fletcher, Ok., Aug. 16, 1933.

"It was not the proper time to pray," James D. Davenport, presiding judge of the State Criminal Court of Appeals, declared in announcing the court had granted a new trial for Grable.

Technically, the Appellate Court held "the only acts permitted to be performed by the bailiff are to keep the jury together and not to permit any person to speak or communicate with members of the jury or do so himself. The prayer in the jury room before the jury returned its verdict into court was a violation of statutes."

BIRD ATTACKS GRAF ZEPPELIN

German Airship Arrives at Brazil With 6-Foot Hole in Covering.

BRASILIA, April 26.—The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, veteran of trans-Atlantic flights, arrived here today after a "battle" with a giant bird in mid-ocean. A gash six feet long, torn in the dirigible's silken covering, was the only damage.

Crew members said that the bird swooped down and launched a foolhardy attack upon the dirigible, tearing a hole in the airship's covering with its beak before finally abandoning the combat.

MOVIE MODISTE, EMPLOYEE KILLED; THIRD MAN SHOT

Chauffeur Murdered Designer, Wounded Law Instructor, Then Ended Own Life, Officers Say.

INQUIRY DISCLOSES DISPUTE OVER MONEY

Case Described as Closed, but Missing Guest at Hollywood Supper Is Sought for Questioning.

By the Associated Press. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 26.—Shootings that caused the deaths to a movie style creator and his chauffeur and the serious wounding of a third man last night were reported as murder and suicide by Sheriff's officers today.

O. H. Cloud, Sheriff's deputy in charge of the case, said Paul Ivar Wharton, 25-year-old designer of clothes for film actresses, was shot by William Howard, 35, former design in the navy and later Wharton's chauffeur.

Cloud said Howard later shot Henry E. Bolte, 38, law instructor at the University of California at Los Angeles. After wounding Bolte, Cloud said, Howard shot and killed himself.

The killing of Wharton followed a supper attended by two guests in his Hollywood apartment-studio. The other shootings occurred later in an apartment entrance several blocks away.

Quarrel Over Money.

Cloud said the Sheriff's office was convinced the shootings were a result of financial differences involving the three men, and that a violent quarrel concerning money Wharton and Bolte owed Howard preceded the shootings.

"Our investigation has established that a man we know only as C. M. McDermott was the third person in the room at the time Wharton was slain," Cloud said. "We believe he was not involved in the shootings, but other officers now are looking for him in the belief he can clear up minor details pertaining to the tragedy."

Cloud said McDermott leaped from a window after the three shots had been fired. The deputy said the man's fall was broken by shrubbery. Investigators later picked up a brown hat and a piece of white shirt. They were identified as belonging to the man who confronted Wharton's foster-mother, Ada E. Wharton, an invalid, as he fled from the scene of the shooting, ran into a hallway and then into the kitchen, from which he leaped to the ground.

Says Case Is Closed.

Cloud said as far as the Sheriff's office is concerned, the case is closed except for questioning of McDermott. "We are convinced it is a case of murder and suicide, and the coroner's office will hold a hearing and no inquest will be held," Cloud said. "However, it is possible future developments may warrant entrance of police into the case, in which case a coroner's inquest might be considered necessary."

Police said they were not participating in the investigation at the time. Cloud said investigators had abandoned their earlier theory that Bolte might have been the victim of mistaken identity. They have established that the two men were acquainted. The deputy said Howard until recently had been a frequent escort of Bolte's sister.

Mrs. Wharton said Wharton was born in Billings, Mont., and was the adopted son of a doctor and his wife, who came to Los Angeles from Billings. They died in 1927, and through the new office agreed with his theory, and no inquest will be held," Cloud said. "However, it is possible future developments may warrant entrance of police into the case, in which case a coroner's inquest might be considered necessary."

SIX NEW ALDERMEN NOT TAXPAYERS OF RECORD FOR '33-'34

HOPKINS ADDED TO WORK RELIEF ALLOTMENT BOARD

Named by President as Head of New Progress Division of $4,000,000.000 Spending Setup.

ALSO TO CONTINUE AS FERA CHIEF

Ickes Chairman of Group of 22 Which Will Pass on Distribution of Funds for Projects.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 26.—President Roosevelt today completed his work-relief organization with the appointment of Harry L. Hopkins, as Administrator of the Works Progress Division. He charged the progress division with the task of making certain that persons employed on the projects come from the relief rolls.

The United States Employment Service was given general charge of re-employment of persons on work relief who desire to return to private employment.

With the completion of his administrative machinery, the President summoned his principal aids in the works setup for a general discussion tonight.

The President also added to the allotment board, headed by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, a representative of the mayors conference. It was understood the mayors have selected Mayor LaGuardia of New York for this post.

Rear Admiral C. J. Peoples, now postmaster of the Government, was placed in charge of procurement of materials for the works projects. This will come under the progress division.

Hopkins to Keep Present Post. Hopkins will continue in his present post of Relief Administrator to take care of those remaining on relief rolls until the goal of the works campaign is reached. That is the removal of 3,000,000 persons from relief rolls and giving them jobs. Mr. Roosevelt said again today he expected the states and municipalities to take over the case of unemployables on relief rolls.

Tonight's White House conference will include the big four of the $4,000,000,000 undertaking—Frank C. Walker, director of the Emergency Council; Ickes, chairman of the Allotment Board; Hopkins and Rexford G. Tugwell, head of the Division for Rural Resettlement.

Robert E. Wood, Chicago business man, will be the representative of the Business Advisory Council on the important Allotment Board which will pass on the distribution of funds for the projects.

The White House announcement said accurate information must be available on the actual number of employables whose names are on relief rolls.

Congress was watched closely for its reaction to the appointment of Ickes last night as chairman of the allotment board of 22 to recommend projects for the President's approval. Some Congressmen have accused Ickes of being discourteous and arrogant toward them and have argued that he has been too slow in spending the $3,300,000,000 appropriated for public works two years ago. A congressional controversy over his request for a $10,000-a-year assistant was in progress even as the President announced his appointment.

Personnel of Board. With Hopkins, Ickes and the others already mentioned, the allotment board is composed of: Secretary of Agriculture Wallace; Secretary of Labor Perkins; Frank C. Walker, Budget Director; Daniel W. Bell, Chief of Army Engineers; Major-General Edward M. Markham, Commissioner of Reclamation; Elwood Mead.

Director of Soil Erosion, Hugh H. Bennett; Chief of the Forest Service, F. A. Silcox; Director of Emergency Conservation Work, Robert Fechner.

MOTHER AND SON ARE SENTENCED TO HANG FOR MURDER

Second Youth Gets Life in Killing of Woman's Brother at Georgetown, Del., Seven Years Ago.

GEORGETOWN, Del., April 26.—Mrs. Mary H. Carey, 52 years old, and a son, Howard Carey, were sentenced today to be hanged in Sussex County Jail on June 7 for the murder of the woman's brother more than seven years ago. Another son, James Carey, 23, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Carey screamed and became hysterical as sentence was imposed. The jury had recommended mercy in returning a first degree conviction against the woman and her older son, told policemen that the younger son was convicted of second degree murder, which carries a life imprisonment penalty in Delaware.

The man killed was Robert Hitchens, a bachelor, living near Frankford, Del. The motive, the State charged, was to obtain $2000 from a life insurance policy.

Sentence was imposed by Chief Justice D. G. Layton and Associate Justices C. S. Richards and W. W. Harrington. They declined to act on the recommendation of mercy. Records show that Delaware never hanged a woman.

Hitchens was found in the living room of his home on the night of Nov. 9, 1927, his skull crushed to the upper part of his body a mass of wounds. Active investigation of the killing had ended when last December Lawrence Carey, 21, a third son, told policemen of the circumstances after his arrest on a breaking and entering charge. He said that for nearly a month before the man's death he heard his mother and brothers planning to kill Hitchens. Hitchens had been dead nearly two days when the body was found.

Mrs. Carey and Howard confessed after their arrest. At the trial the woman pleaded for her sons, saying she was responsible and told them to do it. She said that after her mother's death she had differences with her brother, Hitchens, as the result of the division of a room amount of property. She charged that several times and her brother threatened to kill her and that she lived constantly in fear of her life.

A three-pound sledge hammer, an oak cased and a pistol were used in the murder. Mrs. Carey said in the confession she and her sons had lain in wait for Hitchens in his house and she wielded the sledge. Howard was accused of firing a pistol shot into the man's brain as he lay on the floor, stunned by a blow.

House Passes Navy Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The $460,000,000 naval appropriation bill was passed by the House today and sent to the Senate. The measure authorizes the laying down of two dozen new ships, the increasing of the Navy's enlisted strength by 11,000 men and the building of 555 airplanes.

BOARD ONLY JUDGE OF ITS MEMBERSHIP

Counselor Hay Gives Opinion That 'Assessment' Rather Than 'Payment' of Real or Personal Property Taxes Is Necessary to Hold Office.

An inspection of the Tax Assessor's records, made today by Post-Dispatch reporters at City Hall, disclosed that six of the 15 new members of the Board of Aldermen are not listed as "assessed taxpayers" for both 1933 and 1934, as required by the City Charter as a qualification for the public office they hold.

However, all six were listed as "assessed taxpayers" either in 1933 or 1934, but not for the required two consecutive years, 1933-34, preceding their election.

The six Aldermen, all Democrats, are: Bernard J. Fitzsimmons, 1822A Russell boulevard, Eighth Ward, new Vice-President of the Board, with the power of appointing committees and ruling on points of order.

Gregory V. Murray, 2646 Keokuk street, clerk, Tenth Ward. Walter H. Toberman, 3439 Post-alotti street, grain dealer, Fourteenth Ward.

Charles O'Connor, 3447 Lafayette avenue, coal dealer, Sixteenth Ward.

George A. Byrne, 2248 Howard street, Eighteenth Ward. L. E. Couplin, 5043 Cabanne avenue, former Deputy Assessor, Twenty-sixth Ward.

The city charter provides that no person shall become an Alderman unless he has been for two years immediately preceding his election an "assessed taxpayer" of the city. "Assessment," Not "Payment."

City Counselor Hay told a Post-Dispatch reporter, in response to inquiry, that "assessment" rather than "payment" of taxes appeared to be the essential qualification and that he believed only real estate or personal property assessment, not the payment of license or other taxes, would serve to qualify. He pointed out that assessment through a partnership, which might not involve listing on the assessment rolls under the individual's name, probably would suffice to qualify an Alderman. The Board of Aldermen is the judge of the qualifications of its members.

Mayor Diekmann, when asked about the situation, said: "As I understand the law, it's up to the Board of Aldermen; they pass on the qualifications of their members. I am surprised that Toberman is on the list, because I understood he owned his own home and lived in it for years." Toberman represents the Mayor's ward.

A question put to the Mayor, as to whether legislation would be affected if Aldermen voting on it were disqualified, was answered by First Associate City Counselor Wayman, who was present. Wayman expressed the opinion that legislation would not be affected, unless the majority was so small that the votes of the Aldermen involved controlled the result, in which event he conceded there might be a question.

nue, told reporters he was working about 400 feet west of the shaft and had turned toward the east when he heard the explosion and saw flames fill the sewer. Smoke billowed toward him, and he was unable to see any of the workmen who had been between him and the shaft.

C. H. Paffrath, Sewer Commissioner, who inspected the sewer after the explosion, said he found traces of oil on the bricks in the passage. He said he was unable to explain how it got there, but expressed the opinion it had been dumped into the sewer somewhere between Grand boulevard and Vandeventer avenue.

The first firemen to arrive at the sewer opening summoned the squad wagon, which is equipped with gas masks, blowers and other equipment used in fighting gas. Three blowers were set to work on the manholes as soon as the squad wagon arrived.

PROSECUTION DENIES ERRORS IN HAUPTMANN MURDER TRIAL

100-Word Answer Filed to Defense Petition Appealing From Death Verdict.

TRENTON, N. J., April 26.—The State entered formal denial today to defense charges of error in Bruno Richard Hauptmann's trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr. of Hunterdon County filed with the Court of Errors and Appeals a 100-word answer to the defense petition asking for reversal of Hauptmann's conviction. The defense contended the trial was "Circus Maximus" and the jury was "unduly influenced" by Col. Lindbergh's daily presence.

Hauptmann, whose appeal will be heard June 20, studied with interest yesterday the assignments of error, and later expressed hope, his counsel said, that he would gain a new trial. He is under sentence of death.

21 CONVICTED IN COMMUNIST DISTURBANCE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Woman Speaker Who Chained Self to Pole to Prevent Removal, Among Them.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 26.—A jury convicted 21 persons today of riot charges growing out of a Communist disturbance in McKeesport last September.

Among them were two women, Mrs. Mary Alexander and Carolyn Hart, who the State charged, was chained to a street pole so she could not remove her while she was making a speech. They and George Alexander and Gus Safa were convicted on two counts—rioting and inciting to riot.

The prosecution charged that people were endangered when members of the Young Communist League tried to hold a mass meeting on a downtown street without a permit from the Mayor.

Mrs. Clarke was formerly executive secretary of the League of Women Voters and the St. Louis Town Club. In 1934 she was secretary in the campaign for penal and eleemosynary institutions.

In the Lurestan district of Silekhor, 900 miles away, 30 villages suffered from the shocks and two were razed. Twenty persons died there and many were injured.

She said she had heard Wharton and his guests chatting earlier, but a quarrel had preceded the shooting.

Detectives, summoned by neighbors, began an investigation, but were interrupted by a call that sent them to the apartment house in which Bolte lives. There they found Bolte, wounded in the back and neck, lying just outside his door. A few feet away was Howard, dead.

Bolte said he never had seen Howard before, but his wife identified a picture of Howard as that of a former friend of the family and a frequent visitor in their home up to five months ago.

The instructor, who said he had attended a law banquet downtown last night, said he was unlocking his door when he heard several shots. He fell to the floor, wounded, as another shot was fired.

Bolte told Lieut. Berry she had gone to the door to admit her husband when the shooting occurred and he slumped at her feet. She said she saw Howard step toward the front door and stop. She said he placed a pistol in his belt and fired.

Bolte told officers he had seen the man outside as he drove up in front of his home with Mr. and Mrs. Karl Schleicher, but paid no attention to him. He said he remembered nothing after he was

CARVETH WELLS' NO. 1 WINS $5000 FROM NO. 2

Jury Verdict in First Wife's $50,000 Suit for Alienation of Affections.

By the Associated Press. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 26.—Mrs. Luard Theodora Wells, divorced first wife of Grant Carveth Wells, traveler and lecturer, won a jury verdict for $50,000 last night in her $50,000 suit against his second wife, Mrs. Zetta Wells, for alienation of his affections.

After the verdict Wells and his second wife embraced and kissed in the courtroom.

Mrs. Zetta Wells moved today to have set aside the jury's verdict. Motions of appeal describing the decision as "contrary to the weight of the testimony and the law" were placed on file by attorneys for Mrs. Wells No. 2.

Mrs. Luard T. Wells wept, apparently in happiness. She said: "I feel that the jury realized why I was doing the apparently atrocious things I did when I wrote the letters to my husband—they read into the record here."

The verdict was in two parts. The first found Mrs. Zetta Wells guilty of alienation. The second was a like finding on an allegation of misconduct between 1928 and the time Mrs. Luard T. Wells got a divorce in the New York courts, in September, 1932. Wells, it was shown, got a Mexican divorce in February, 1932, and married the present Mrs. Wells in Alexandria, Va., in June of the same year.

Throughout the trial, which began April 16, the defense contended that Wells had no affection for his first wife that could have been alienated.

Joseph R. Swan, associate defense counsel, in summation, charged the first Mrs. Wells "as motivated by cupidity and vengeance" and that her suit "screams of blackmail." He blamed her for the wreck of their marriage and declared: "She did not want a husband; she wanted a whipped cur to roll at her feet."

Iowa Student Reinstated.

IOWA CITY, Ia., April 26.—Albert Opperman, a freshman of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be reinstated at the University of Iowa, Dean Robert E. Klenow said last night. Opperman was a pledge of Phi Beta Delta fraternity, which was disbanded on charges of keeping a "disorderly house."

MANUFACTURER DEAD

CHARLES A. STOCKSTROM.

C. A. STOCKSTROM DIES; STOVE MANUFACTURER

Pneumonia Fatal to 83-Year-Old St. Louis Man at Mount Clemens, Mich.

Charles A. Stockstrom, chairman of the board of the American Stove Co., 825 Chouteau avenue, died yesterday at Mount Clemens, Mich., of pneumonia, which followed a heart attack suffered last Saturday. He had gone to Mount Clemens about two weeks ago to take mineral baths at a sanitarium there, as was his custom for 32 years.

Mr. Stockstrom, 83 years old, founded the Quick Meal Stove Co. in 1881 with his brother, Louis Stockstrom. In 1902 they organized the American Stove Co., which was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The new company consolidated the Quick Meal Co. and eight other stove manufacturing companies in St. Louis and other cities.

Mr. Stockstrom was president of the consolidated companies until 1927, when he became board chairman and his brother took the presidency.

Born in Germany, Charles Stockstrom came to this country when 16 years old, making his home in Quincy, Ill. A year later he came to St. Louis and worked as a bookkeeper in the old German Savings Institute, later the Liberty Central Bank, until 1878. He then went to Denver, Colo., where for several years he operated a lime production concern with another man. After his return to St. Louis he founded the first stove company with a capital of $6000, occupying a small store on Broadway near the Union Market.

As the business grew, larger quarters were acquired, and in 1888, a factory was built at the Chouteau avenue address, which is now used as a warehouse and sales office of the present company. The present factory is at 2001 South Kingshighway boulevard.

A number of years after the founding of the Quick Meal Co., the Stockstrom brothers began the manufacture of stoves to burn gas instead of gasoline. Despite the high price of gas and numerous manufacturing problems, the product proved popular and the company prospered. The first gas stoves were constructed mainly of cast iron, with the bake oven below the top.

After the formation of the new company, Mr. Stockstrom introduced the use of sheet steel in the place of cast iron parts, and the bake oven was moved to the more convenient place beside the cooking top. The designs were simplified and ornaments became smaller and fewer.

Mr. Stockstrom resided with his daughter, Miss Olga Stockstrom, at 3400 Russell boulevard. Also surviving are a son, Carl Stockstrom, and a daughter, Mrs. Ada Hein. The body will be returned to St. Louis today for burial.

$8500 FOR MASSES PROVIDED IN JOHN G. BLOEMKER WILL

Nine Catholic Institutions Also Receive Bequests From Former Bell Maker.

The will of John G. Bloemker, retired bell foundry owner, who died Monday, was filed in Probate Court yesterday. Specific bequests totaling $8500 were set aside for masses for himself, relatives and the poor. One-half of the remainder of the estate was left to a nephew, Bernard H. Bloemker, and four nieces, Catherine T. Bloemker, Florence Schnaus, Mary E. and Josephine H. Bloemker. Two-thirds of the other half was left to nine Catholic institutions and the balance was divided among 18 relatives, among whom is Circuit Judge Eugene L. Padberg.

Mayor Dickmann and his brother, Otto J. Dickmann, were appointed executors. No estimate of the value of the estate was made. Mr. Bloemker, a widower, was 78 years old. He resided at 4237 Louisiana avenue.

CONSUMERS' COUNCIL ASKS CLARK TO ALTER STAND

Amendments to Food and Drug Bill Will Weaken Present Law, It Says.

In a letter sent today by the Consumers' Council of St. Louis to United States Senator Clark, he was asked to withdraw his support to the Bailey amendments of the Copeland Food, Drug and Cosmetic Bill and also to withdraw his amendment to transfer legislation of the advertising provisions of the bill from the Department of Agriculture to the Federal Trade Commission.

The council, through its chairman, Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, charges the amendments "will make enforcement provisions weaker than those of the present law." The amendments would prohibit multiple seizures, which is in the Copeland Bill, and provide for the manufacturer violating the law to be called before a Federal Judge to show first why seizure should not be made. The latter, the council declares, would mean an opportunity for delay to the violator. A similar letter was sent to Senator Harry S. Truman asking for his aid in influencing Senator Clark in changing his mind.

NEW YORK NRA ENFORCEMENT ACT IS HELD INVALID

Governor at Once Signs Amendments Designed to Meet Objections Raised by Court.

By the Associated Press. ALBANY, N. Y., April 26.—The New York State NRA enforcement law, known as the Schackno act, was held unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals today but within two hours Gov. Lehman signed amendments designed to meet the Court's objections to the law.

The effect of the amendments is to return to the State the power assigned to the Federal Government by the Legislature of 1933 to decide what codes shall become law. The Court of Appeals ruled that the 1933 Legislature improperly delegated to Washington powers that the State Constitution intends shall be wielded by no one other than New York's legislative body.

The Court of Appeals by a vote of four to three ruled that the Legislature had no right to "leave to a national administrator to declare what shall or shall not be a crime in New York State."

The Court of Appeals is the highest court in the State. The decision was handed down in the case of a Binghamton coal dealer, Gustave C. Darwager, who obtained an injunction in the lower court restraining the Coal Code Authority from enforcing floor level prices in the industry.

Chief Judge Frederick E. Crane and Judges John F. O'Brien, Irving G. Houcks and John P. Loughran, concurred in the majority opinion. Judges Irving Lehman, Leonard C. Crouch and Edward R. Finch dissented.

Another Case Similarly Decided. The same decision was given also in the case of the Jamaica auction galleries of New York which had challenged the constitutionality of the statute.

The coal case reached the court on an appeal by the divisional coal code authority for reversal of a lower court's ruling that the Schackno act was unconstitutional. The act was passed by the Legislature at a special session in 1933 to enforce NRA fair trade regulations in New York State.

Darwager challenged the right of the code authority to fix the prices at which he bought and sold his coal. The appellate division ruled that the Legislature violated a constitutional mandate against the delegation of constitutional powers to another group.

"The State Legislature can not leave to Congress to determine that an emergency exists in intrastate business in the State of New York," Chief Judge Crane wrote in the majority opinion, "and we may say in passing, that Congress has not attempted to do so. The Legislature can not leave to a body of intrastate commerce, the United States to declare that an emergency exists here in intrastate business, and to provide methods and means for meeting that emergency. The Legislature can not leave to a national administrator to declare what shall or shall not be a crime in New York State."

Delegation of Power. "This law (Schackno Act) is a mere shell, leaving to national bodies or officials the power to make the laws of New York State. To repeat, the Legislature does not declare that any emergency exists in the coal trade as conducted in intrastate commerce. It does not even declare that this business needs regulating. It leaves it entirely to an outside authority to say whether or not it shall be regulated, and what the regulations shall be. It leaves it to a national Code Authority or a national Administrator to say whether the emergency exists in that trade in New York State, and to fix the price at which coal shall be sold. The delegation of its power is even more extreme, for it makes it a misdemeanor for any citizen to violate any rule of regulation hereafter made by these authorities. The only thing required by this law is the filing of the nationalized codes in the Secretary of State's office. To this extent the Legislature has acted, and no further. Everything else has been delegated."

FEDERAL AGENTS CHECKING EAST ST. LOUIS TAVERNS

Many Said to Be Operating Without State and City Liquor Licenses.

A drive to enforce Federal statutes providing that tavern keepers must comply with local ordinances and take out State and city licenses was begun yesterday in East St. Louis by Federal agents of the Alcohol Tax unit.

Opponents of the East St. Louis administration candidates in the last municipal election charged that there were 300 saloons in East St. Louis and only about 100 owners had taken out city licenses, costing $500 a year. The Federal license is $25 and the State license, $50 a year. Federal agents began checking and issued warnings a week ago to tavern owners without city licenses.

Federal warrants were issued yesterday by Commissioner Arthur R. Felsen charging Alex Gerzitis, 1740 Division avenue, and Aaron Bugdop, 1539 East Broadway, East St. Louis tavern owners, with violations of Federal statutes in having no city licenses. Gerzitis was released on $500 bond. The penalty on conviction is $1000 fine, a year in jail, or both.

COLBY DECLARES
U.S. IS IN MESH OF TYRANNOUS RULE

Former Member of Wilson Cabinet Says Democrats Are Making Nation Socialistic.

WARNS POLICIES
WILL SPLIT PARTY

Tells Publishers That Administration Has No Counterpart Aside From
'Unrestrained Dictatorship.'

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The Democratic party was charged with making the nation a socialistic state and enveloping it "in a mesh of tyrannous and bureaucratic rule," in an address by Bainbridge Colby before the American Newspaper Publishers Association, which ends its convention today.

The former Secretary of State in the Wilson administration, said that freedom of the press, often stressed at the convention, was not the only thing imperiled.

Proposed legislation, he said last night, would reduce the farmer to "the level of a serf" with the Secretary of Agriculture controlling every step from "sowing to consumption." He declared the "bureaucratic rule" would be given power to make regulations and punish violators without going to court.

"As a Democrat," Colby continued, "I would venture to remind the heady and nonchalant members of the moment who are officiating as instruments of the Democratic party, and usurping its name, that the Government of the United States was established to rid of arbitrary, discretionary executive power."

Predicts Party Split.

Saving the present administration has no counterpart save "the autocratic sway of unrestrained dictatorship," he asserted.

"The Democratic party cannot, nor will it, turn from legal regulation to executive regulation, from law to personal power, without rendering itself in twain and divorcing from its ranks countless thousands."

He held "it is the counsel of pools or enemies of the United States that we should alter the fundamental form of our society in order to solve economic problems which would be easy of solution if we would but cease our effort to abort and throttle established economic law."

He concluded with the statement that the people "begin to see they are on the wrong track."

"Shadow of Dictatorship Threat."

Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, told the publishers the United States still was in the shadow of the dictatorship threat.

"Less than at any time in human history," said Frank, "can we afford to bully into silence the voice of corrective criticism, intimidate minority opinion and give unquestioned right-of-way to the grooves of dogmatism of politics and economics that sprout so lavishly from the improvisings of crisis-driven statesmen."

"And yet, this is what is happening the world around wherever the minds of men have been seduced by the glamorous promises of dictatorship."

"Even in the absence of deliberate intent, the exercise of emergency powers may in a few swift months remake for a generation the nature of nation's government and the attitude of the people towards it."

"That is why the active and responsible discharge of the critical function is imperative."

Among the business before the publishers today was the election of officers.

Mencio to Publishers.

The publishers approved a resolution of its Traffic Committee for the adoption of a stand "unalterably opposed" to Government ownership of railroads or any other form of transportation.

The Traffic Committee chairman, E. M. Antrim of the Chicago Tribune, stated: "As predicted a year ago, Congress has been flooded with a deluge of bills to regulate all forms of transportation."

The association took note of trends of Federal legislation, and unanimously adopted reports of its Committee on Federal Laws, in which the following conclusion was stated:

"There are many bills pending before the present Congress affecting the newspaper business which may be enacted if prompt and vigorous protest to them is not made, and publishers must be constantly alert and vigilant if their properties are not to be destroyed or irreparably injured."

In reporting the activities of the association in Federal legislation, the Committee on Federal Laws charged that the violation of the fourth amendment of the Constitution was "a common characteristic of all New Deal regulatory and licensing legislation."

Object to Wagner Bill.

"It is the requirement," the report stated, "that upon request of any agency of the Government access must be given to books, papers, records and anything else the Government desires. The penalty for refusing such a request to go on a fishing expedition into one's affairs is fine or imprisonment or both. Such a provision will be found in the Wagner (labor dispute) bill, the Copeland bill, the new NRA bill and the AAA legislation." The Wagner bill was termed "one of the most obnoxious proposals contained in pending legislation."

The Committee on the Federal Securities Act of 1933 reported that the act "contained numerous provisions which greatly reduce the volume of financial advertising," and said the committee hoped for a "proper solution" of the matter in the near future.

In the association's representations to the Securities and Exchange Commission, it was stated to be the position of American newspapers that they were in full sympathy with the purposes of the act and were opposed to false and misleading advertising, but that the conditions of the act in relation to announcements in the press were contrary to public interest.

The association also adopted the Radio Committee's report continuing the Press Radio Bureau for another year, and agreed to permit publishers owning or affiliated with radio stations "more flexible use" of telegraph news received in their own offices for broadcasting purposes.

The newspapers spend $200,000, 000 a year obtaining domestic and foreign news for their readers.

Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, said. He addressed the Advertising Club of New York.

"The Associated Press," he said, "collects from its members and spends $10,000,000 annually in collecting and delivering news to them. I estimate that the news gathering of all the foreign services equals those of the Associated Press, and the member papers spend at least 10 times as much as the associations. Readers of the daily papers, therefore, have at their disposal news collected at a cost of $200,000,000 a year."

Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, told members of the Columbia School of Journalism that President Roosevelt should be held directly responsible for attempts of his subordinates to limit freedom of the press.

"Men like Tugwell and other brain-trusters are trying to undermine the business side of the newspaper," he said later. He asserted the President, by maintaining them in office, had encouraged the enemies of the free press.

POLICE DOUBT STORY OF BOY THAT HE SET CHICAGO FIRES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Police renewed their search for a pyromaniac who set 10 fires in the Rogers Park district as doubt was cast on the statements of Edward Malloy, 13 years old, that he was responsible for the blazes.

The boy alternately "confessed" and denied responsibility for the fires as police questioned him last night. He was taken into custody when an officer saw him striking quantities of matches on a street car yesterday.

His parents, who had not seen him since he ran away in February, said the child was a "pathological liar," and was not responsible for his statements. Authorities were inclined not to believe his earlier admission of guilt.

The Rogers Park district, terrorized by the series of fires that cost one life, was patrolled by special police, members of the American Legion and citizens seeking the perpetrator of the blazes.

Dry Northwest Gets Heavy Rains.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 26.—Rain has given Minnesota, Wisconsin and the eastern parts of North and South Dakota abundant moisture, a survey of the district shows following heavy downfalls in the past few days. The entire wheat area of the Northwest and Canadian provinces is in much better condition than last year.

PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY BALLS CRITICISED BY IOWA MINISTER

The Rev. P. O. Bersell Says Dances
To Raise Funds Are Signs of Moral Letdown.

GOWNE, Ia., April 26. — The president's birthday balls to raise funds for the Warm Springs (Ga.) Paralysis Foundation were criticized as "one of the most distasteful and flagrant symptoms of moral letdown and looseness of the annual report today
of the Rev. P. O. Bersell of Ottumwa before the Iowa Lutheran Conference.

The balls, the report said, "are staged under the cloak of sweet charity and with the endorsement of both civic and ecclesiastical leaders."
The Rev. Mr. Bersell's report asserted, "American civilization is Christian in name but not in spirit," and said the Church "Needs to be revived." The Rev. Mr. Bersell's comment was included in his report dealing with temperance and moral conditions, which he said were "both pathetic and tragic."

Roads, Thomas H. MacDonald, Director of Rural Resettlement, Rexford G. Tugwell.
Director of Rural Electrification,
yet to be named.
Chief of the division of grade crossing elimination, yet to be named.
Chief of the Urban Housing Division, Col. Horatio B. Hackett.
Representatives of the Mayors' Conference, organized labor, farm organizations, and the American Bankers' Association, all yet to be selected.

President's Statement.

The White House statement announcing the appointment of Hopkins as administrator of the Works Progress Division follows:

"The fourth and final announcement by the President regarding the administrative machinery for the handling of the Works Relief program provides for setting up a Works Progress division.
"It is obvious that before allotments are made, accurate information must be available in regard to the actual number of employables whose names are on existing relief rolls. As the Works Relief program is intended to take care primarily of these people the projects must be allocated in proportion to the numbers within a given work area.
The progress division will be in charge of these figures and will keep the other divisions informed at all times.

"Next, after allotments have been made, it will be the duty of the Progress Division to see that the actual persons to be employed on the separate projects will come from those whose names are on the relief rolls.
"It also will be necessary to determine the amounts of security payments in different areas of the country.

On Employment Service.

"The United States Employment Service will have general charge of re-employment of persons on work relief who desire to return to private employment or who are needed in private employment. The progress division will co-ordinate this work among the many administrative divisions. Another important function of the works progress division will be the procurement of materials for the projects approved. This will be handled by an office in the progress division which will be headed by Rear Admiral C. J. Peoples, now the president officer of the Government.

"Finally, the progress division will be charged with keeping in touch at all times with all projects and reporting on the progress made. The agents of the division in the field, where there are not sufficient adequate projects in any work relief area, will explore possibilities for additional work and make recommendations thereon.

"Mr. Harry L. Hopkins will act as administrator of the works progress division. He, of course, will continue as administrator of the Federal emergency relief administration, the work of which will, however, diminish in proportion to the number of persons on the relief rolls given employment under the works relief program. As previously stated, the care of unemployables on relief rolls during the same period will revert to States and municipalities.

FERA Machinery to Continue.
"If in the process of making and carrying out allotments sufficient employment in a given area is actually not provided, the existing machinery of FERA will be continued in order to take up the slack through the creation of local work on very small projects which, because of their size, would not clear through the works allotment board.
These projects can be planned and put into operation and completed in a very short space of time. They will be definitely useful.

"The general work of the works progress division also will include recommendations designed to keep the actual work of the great majority on projects located as close to the homes of the workers as possible."

Last Night's Announcement.
The Presidential statement issued last night said the applications for works projects would be received by the emergency council, studied by the agencies under which they properly fell, and passed on by the emergency council to the allotment board for final action.

A presidential statement said House statement said, "the estimates of cost will have been checked, the length of time necessary for completion will have been passed on, the number of persons from the relief rolls who can be employed in each vicinity, or to put it another way, the percentage of direct labor will have been certified, the proportion of self-liquidating projects to the whole number will have been studied and the economic justification determined."
"With all this information in its possession the works allotment division will be able to recommend the projects to the President by districts for his approval."

The Civil Service Commission reported yesterday that eligibles on its lists would be available for all administrative posts created to carry out the work relief program.
President Roosevelt is empowered under the new law to prescribe terms of employment, either under civil service or exempt from its provisions. How far he will go to availing himself of the civil service eligibles has not been disclosed.

GAS COMPANY 'HAS NOTHING TO ARBITRATE'

Reply of President Gosling to Efforts of Mayor to Settle Strike of Union Workers.

Officers of the Laclede Gas Light Co. and of the striking gas workers' union met at City Hall yesterday at the invitation of Mayor Dickmann, but failed to reach an agreement on arbitration of their differences.

The Mayor had suggested arbitration through the Missouri Public Service Commission, since the company had refused to abide by the decision of the National Labor Relations Board, which held that the union, Gas House Workers' Local 18799, should be accepted as collective bargaining agent for the 725 employees of the gas company's mechanical departments.

"Nothing to Arbitrate."

The company, represented by E. P. Gosling, president, and Robert W. Otto, counsel, maintained that there was nothing to arbitrate, as it has turned its service and installation work over to Louis J. Cuneo, a gas fitting contractor, since the strike was called March 23. Otto explained that Cuneo had offered to hire the strikers at a wage increase, and the company had signed a year's contract with the contractor. The union had rejected Cuneo's offer, because only about half of their number would have found places with the contractor.

Mayor Dickmann told reporters after the meeting that he would insist on arbitration, because of the public safety and convenience involved. He said he was of the opinion that the company had "no right" to make a service contract with Cuneo, and added that the company "should do its part to settle the dispute."

Union to Submit Terms.

The Mayor requested the union to submit in writing the terms under which the strike could be settled. Martin Wagner, union president, said the matter would be taken up with the union executive committee, and he indicated that an answer would be ready early next week.

Gosling and Otto said they would attend further conferences called by the Mayor, although of the opinion that the labor question should now be taken up with Cuneo. Mayor Dickmann stated that he had no intention of calling the contractor, as he believed the responsibility was with the gas company.

Mrs. George W. Gelber, representing the League of Women Voters, attended the conference.

Police broke up what they believe was an ambush laid for Cuneo employees with the arrest of ten striking gas workers, who were hiding behind stacks of pipes on the property of the Blackmer & Post Pipe Co., Arsenal and Hereford streets, this morning. The strikers, who were armed with bricks and stones, were taken to Mount St. Vincent.

Four Strikers Freed.

Charges of peace disturbance were dismissed in Police Court today against four strikers because of lack of convincing evidence. The charges grew out of the beating of J. E. Kelley, 1073 Tower Grove avenue, at Chouteau and Tower Grove avenues April 18. Kelley testified he was struck with a baseball bat on a brick and required 25 stitches in his head. He identified Joseph Marrone and George Miller, strikers, as two of his assailants, and was unable to identify the other defendants, John Bueynski, 374 Cottage avenue, and Joseph Brenzil, 1362 Arlington avenue.

Marrone and Miller denied the charge and presented alibi testimony. Miller said Kelley had asked for employment by the union as a "slugger," and later agreed to work for Cuneo and supply information to the union. Kelley, on cross-examination, denied any agreement with the union.

MARRIAGE OF EGYPTIAN DIVER TO AMERICAN GIRL HELD UP
Los Angeles Bureau Refuses License Pending Ruling on Racial Status of Farid Simaika.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 26.—Plans for a wedding at a honeymoon in Egypt were held up today for Farid Simaika, Egyptian diving star, and his 18-year-old fiancée, Miss Betty Wilson, pending an official ruling on his racial status. The diver, recently named coach for the Egyptian 1936 Olympic Games swimming team, filed notice of intention to wed Miss Wilson, student of the University of California at Los Angeles, yesterday.

The Marriage License Bureau deferred the matter until it gets a ruling on whether Simaika is a member of the Caucasian race. California marriage laws forbid Caucasians from marrying those of another race.

The pair had planned to marry Saturday and leave immediately for New York to sail for Egypt. Simaika, 27, formerly was married to Mabel Van Der Aalke of Hollywood. They were divorced in 1931. Miss Wilson is the daughter of William G. Wilson, retired steel man of Youngstown, O.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. SEEKS TO DISSOLVE SUBSIDIARIES

Application Taken Under Advice by Federal Judge Davis.

Application of Henry W. Kiel, trustee of the Public Service Co., for authority to dissolve four of the company's subsidiaries to save on income tax was taken under advisement today by Federal Judge Davis.

The subsidiaries are the St. Louis Bus Co., Merchants' Express Co., St. Louis Motor Coach Corporation and the Peoples Motor Bus Co. and two of Peoples Bus Co. subsidiaries, the Great Western Holding Corporation and Gray Line Tours of St. Louis, Inc. If the authority is granted, these companies would merely lose their corporate identities, their business being carried on by the trustee. The City and Suburban Public Service Co. and the Florissant Construction, Real Estate and Investment Co. would not be affected.

Charles Dues, representing the Public Service Co., told Judge Davis that if the four companies could be operated so as to permit a joint return considerable savings would be effected in income taxes and in bookkeeping methods.

$1,529,000 RISE IN NEW BUDGET BILL FOR CITY

Measure Given to Aldermen—Increase Since Last Year Chiefly in Bond Interest and Sinking Fund.

The 1935-36 city appropriation bill, with a budget total of $29,359,650.16, was submitted to the Board of Aldermen today by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. After a second reading, it will be referred to the Ways and Means Committee, the personnel of which, with that of other committees, was to be announced at today's meeting.

This year's budget exceeds that of a year ago, for the year 1934-35, by $1,529,000.27. The increase is chiefly in bond interest and sinking fund, which is $729,064, as compared with $638,447 a year ago. This year's appropriations for municipal revenue purposes are $19,025,065, as compared with $19,317,754 last year.

Two other major items, making up the total of this year's appropriation are: Waterworks, $2,280,692, and special purposes and revolving funds, $794,227.

Salaries of Nurses Cut.

With the budget bill, the standardization bill, fixing salaries of city employees, was sent to the Aldermen. The only important change which it contained was in the salaries of nurses in City Hospital and City Hospital No. 2, the latter for Negroes. The nurses' salaries, with their consent, were reduced from $80 to $75 a month, with their keep. This was done so that more nurses might be employed. The number of City Hospital nurses provided for in the bill is 70, with a payroll of $63,000, instead of last year's 51 at $50,080. At Hospital No. 2, 36 nurses, at $32,400 for the year, are to be employed, instead of the previous 29 at $31,360.

Hospital Commissioner Thompson said the nurses were willing to accept less pay in order to get their number increased, and that the new scale of pay compared favorably with that of outside institutions.

Budget Director Arthur C. Meyers said, as to the increase in the appropriation for bond interest and sinking fund, that it was made necessary by the requirements of retirement and interest on bonds due in 1936, and the requirement for the $3,500,000 public building and improvement bonds, issued last December.

$855,000 for Street Lights.

Under the head of municipal expenditures, the largest increase is in the streets and boulevards lighting item, which is $855,000, compared with $700,000 last year. This is due to extension of the lighting system, through CWA and FERA workers, causing a requirement for more current.

The Police Department's appropriation is $5,136,240, as compared with $5,061,147 last year. The Fire Department's appropriation is $2,279,165, compared with $2,261,435 last year.

Because there is no regular election schedule for the fiscal year ending in April, 1936, the appropriation for elections and registration is $148,120, compared with $623,249 for the last fiscal year, in which the November and April elections, with primary preceding each, were included.

The same tax rate as that of last year was submitted to the aldermen $1.27 on $100 valuation for municipal revenue purposes, 4 cents for Public Library, 2 cents for Zoo, 2 cents for Art Museum, and 39 cents for bond interest and sinking fund. If the State rate, 15 cents, and the school rate, 85 cents, are not changed, the total tax rate for city, state and schools will be $2.74, as last year.

Expected Revenue.

With the budget bill, the Board of Estimate included a statement of expected revenue for the coming fiscal year, amounting to $19,200,000, or $175,000 more than the proposed appropriations for municipal purposes. This $175,000, the Board of Estimate said, would be applied to the deficit, and would reduce it to the approximate figure of $700,000.

"To bring the city's expenses within the estimated revenue," the Board of Estimate said, "appropriations have been cut below the amounts which he department heads feel they really ought to have to do the work the people expect of them. We are entitled to have the public understand that if better and greater service is to be rendered more revenue must be secured. Additional revenue may come from larger tax payments; this depends on the Collector's department; or from additional revenue measures, depending on the Board of Aldermen, or from both."

A statement of waterworks revenue, included with the budget bill, showed the Water Department as having a balance on hand, April 8, of $2,217,219. The corresponding balance April 10, 1935, was $1,921,373, and that of April 9, 1934, was $1,631,516. During the last year, receipts of the department were $3,572,024, and expenditures $2,986,321.

EX-BANKER DENIES KNOWING OF DEAL THAT LED TO SUIT

Woman Asks for Damages on Ground Deed Was Sold on Mortgage Property.

John J. Dowling, former head of the defunct Savings Trust Co., said yesterday he was not familiar with the statement by Dowling and the other defendants that it represented a mortgage on clear property. Later she stated she learned that the property, at 6339 Fyler avenue, was encumbered with $2500 in liens and taxes and had been sold without her knowledge.

Named with Dowling as co-defendants were his daughter, Dorothy Dowling Closs, her husband, John O'Neill Closs, and Charles G. Alexander. Dowling said these had been employees of the bank, and could not have advised Mrs. Lewis to buy the mortgage, as she charged, because their duties did not include the sale of deeds of trust.

EFFORT TO TRACE MORE OF $200,000 BREMER RANSOM

Bartender's Reputed Confession Tells of 'Peddling' $24,000 He Says Was Given Him by Others.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 26.—The introduction of the alleged confessions of several persons accused in the Edward G. Bremer $200,000 kidnapping was said today to be the Government's next step in its attempt to convict them of conspiracy.

The prosecution decided on this line of action following the introduction yesterday of a reputed confession by Philip Delaney, a Chicago bartender, who told how he "peddled" $24,000 of the $200,000 ransom money, which he said was given to him by John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, one of 10 persons on trial for conspiracy in the abduction of Bremer, a St. Paul banker, in January, 1934.

Additional amounts of the money, Delaney said, were disposed of by a man named "Bill," while McLaughlin and Delaney waited in an automobile.

Delaney said in the written statement: "At first I thought the money to be counterfeit, but when the banks accepted this money I realized it must have been genuine. I had an idea in my own mind that the money was coming from some mob who had robbed a bank." Introduced in evidence was $2825 in $5 and $10 bills which Robert N. Kaittle, Chicago Federal agent, testified was found in possession of William Vidler, a bookmaker, when he was arrested in Chicago. Testimony was introduced previously to show Vidler had exchanged $13,000 in ransom currency at various Chicago banks. The prosecution will charge the "Bill" named in Delaney's confession was Vidler.

Harold L. Scott, another Chicago Federal agent, testified Vidler was arrested in a bookmaker's place near the City National Bank in Chicago, where ransom bills appeared. At headquarters, Scott said, Vidler said the money had been tossed into his automobile as he crossed a bridge. "I didn't know it was counterfeit," Vidler was quoted as saying.

A Jerome Hoffman, Vidler's counsel, in cross-examination, indicated he would seek to show that statement, apparently written in a memorandum offered, but not immediately admitted, in evidence was obtained under duress.

J. H. GROVER ON STAND IN BROWN ESTATE SUIT

Banker Says Four Unsuccessful Attempts Were Made to Sell Shoe Stock.

Various unsuccessful negotiations to sell Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. stock which was owned by the trust estate of Alanson D. Brown, founder of the company, were described in Circuit Judge O'Malley's court yesterday at the trial of a suit against the trustees for an accounting.

The suit alleges the trustees failed to dispose of the stock, now amounting to 101,000 shares, within the 15-year period prescribed by Mr. Brown, who died in 1913. The stock is selling around $250 a share but at one time the present holdings of the estate were worth $70 a share, it was testified.

James H. Grover, president of the St. Louis-Union Trust Co., which is one of the three trustees, testified that in 1927 the late John F. Shepley, his predecessor in office, who was handling the matter, informed him that efforts had been made to dispose of the stock through the brokerage firm of Smith, Moore & Co., later to the Endicott-Johnson Shoe Co., then to the International Shoe Co., and finally to the Brown Shoe Co., all to no avail. Grover said he personally discussed the proposed deal with John A. Bush, president of the Brown Shoe Co., after it appeared no progress was being made. Bush said he had not authorized any one to make a definite offer for the stock, Grover testified.

Deposition Offered.
A deposition of Morton Jourdan, attorney, now dead, was offered by the defense yesterday. In it he testified that the late Murray Carleton, a former trustee, had told him that in 1916 his co-trustee, the trust company, wanted to dispose of the stock to the International Shoe Co. but he demurred in deference to A. D. Brown's son, Alanson C. Brown, who did not want to give up the business which his father owned and whom he had succeeded as president.

The action was filed by Mrs. Jane Collins, a daughter of the shoe company founder, naming the trust company, A. C. Brown and M. E. Singleton, present trustees, as defendants. Singleton became a trustee several years after the death of Carleton. He denied any liability in the matter.

Mrs. Collins' sisters, Mrs. Walter F. McElroy, Mrs. Eugene Tittman and Mrs. Ruth O'Beir, all of whom were beneficiaries, were named as nominal defendants but in their answers took positions similar to that of Mrs. Collins. The heirs charge negligence on the part of the trustees in failing to sell at a time when the market on the stock was up.

9 Per Cent Return.
Evidence has developed that during a 13-year period before the trust ended the average dividend earning was 9 per cent and that the trust received a total of $2,721,000 in revenue from the shares. The defense has sought to show that the trustees were not in accord with reference to disposing of the securities, further that the heirs did not want the stock sold, but it was asserted by opposing counsel that consent of beneficiaries was not necessary under terms of the will.

Now in the fourth week of trial the case was laid over by Judge O'Malley until Monday. There is an array of lawyers for the various parties. Guy A. Thompson and William K. Koerner are Mrs. Collins' attorneys. Patrick H. Cullen represents Mrs. McElroy. Luke E. Hart, president and general counsel for the shoe company, is attorney for Mrs. Tittman and Mrs. O'Beir. His brother, Richard C. Hart, represents A. C. Brown. Harold Small and Emmet T. Carter are counsel for Singleton, while Rhodes E. Cave, Daniel N. Kirby, James T. Blair and Henry Davis appear for the trust company.

W. F. GEPHART ADDRESSES BANKERS AT FRENCH LICK

Says Wider Market for U. S. Is Possible Only Through Larger Imports.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 26.—Development of a wider and more extensive market for surplus goods of this country is possible at the present time only through larger imports of goods and services from abroad, Dr. W. F. Gephart, vice-president of the First National Bank in St. Louis, said in an address here today at the annual meeting of the Bankers' Association for Foreign Trade.

Exclusive of international loans, Dr. Gephart pointed out, this country is in a position of being net creditor of other nations to the extent of approximately $10,000,000, the interest and principal of which can be paid only in goods, owing to the depleted economic conditions of most foreign countries, "and yet at the same time many of our people are insistent on a favorable balance of exports over imports."

"In addition, there is no present disposition on the part of the American people to invest in any large way abroad," he said. "We have thus reached an impasse. Foreign nations can only pay for our exports and the interest upon our loans and investments abroad by importing to us goods, or by the United States again being willing to make investments abroad, and which would mean essentially that we would be buying our own imports, to put it crudely, with our own money. This broad characterization of our status as regards international trading brings up to the inevitable conclusion that the only possible manner for our people to enjoy a wider and more extensive market for our surplus goods at the present time is to increase our imports of goods and services."

FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR TEACHER 55 YEARS

Members of Two Races to Attend Services for Mrs.
Alice Richardson.

Both white and Negro teachers of the public schools will attend funeral services tomorrow for Mrs.
Alice Richardson, one of the first Negro teachers in the school system, who died last Sunday after 35 years as a primary grade teacher.

Requests from teachers who were anxious to attend the funeral caused the services to be arranged for 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at St.
James' A. M. E. Church, Pendleton and St. Ferdinand avenues. Burial will take place in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Besides members of the teaching staffs, hundreds of former pupils have expressed their intention of attending the services besides many white acquaintances who had known her for many years.

One of the early graduates of Wilberforce University, Mrs. Richardson, whose mother was a slave, became a teacher in 1879. For 37 years she taught at Simmons School and until three weeks prior to her death at Cottage School. She received messages every year from former pupils all over the country.

Her fiftieth anniversary as a public school teacher was observed five years ago by a celebration attended by both white and Negro friends and officers of the Board of Education.

TEACHER LOCKED OUT; HOLDS SCHOOL IN OPEN AIR

Texas Board Held She Was Hired for Only Eight Months.

By the Associated Press.
DECATUR, Tex., April 26.—The term of the Nickelville School came to a close today—not in the building, but under a spreading post oak tree. The school board locked and barred the doors of the building, contending they had hired the teacher, Mrs. Emma Schultz, for only an eight-month term. She insisted she had been hired for nine months, auctioned off a turkey to raise funds and held classes under the tree in the school yard.

"I'm not going to close it," the teacher said. "I can't close on such brief notice, especially since final examinations have not been conducted."

For a week the six pupils sat on sandstones, using the knees for desks, studied and took final examinations. The pupils got their final grade cards today and the County Superintendent said they would get credit despite the closing of the school.

MAN GETS YEAR ON CHARGE OF LEAVING ACCIDENT SCENE

Louis Weinberg Pleads Guilty; Surrendered Two Days After Death of Michael Miller.

Louis Weinberg, 25 years old, a florist, 1151 Walton avenue, pleaded guilty of leaving the scene of an injury to a person today and was sentenced to a year in jail by Circuit Judge Connor.

Last Christmas Eve Michael Miller, 4545 Page boulevard, was killed at Page and West End avenue by an automobile which did not stop.
Two days later, while police were searching for the driver, Weinberg surrendered, reporting he had passed the scene of the accident and had felt a jar, but did not know he had struck anyone.

FIGHT ON PARK BONDS FAILS

Injunction Suit Against $60,000 Issue Dismissed at Belleville.

A temporary injunction restrain-ing the East St. Louis Park District from issuing $60,000 in bonds for work on Lake Park was dismissed at Belleville yesterday by Circuit Judge Riess on the plain-tiff's motion.

Under an ordinance voted last February, bonds will be issued to defray the district's portion of the cost of materials and supervision for clean-up work in the park, a 1130-acre tract on the southeastern outskirts of East St. Louis. Labor will be furnished by relief agencies.
The injunction suit was filed by Charles B. Gertz, as a taxpayer, and alleged that the ordinance was vague and duplicated expenditures provided in the annual tax levy.

DAMAGE SUIT, BEGUN IN 1900, AFFIRMED

Missouri Supreme Court Sustains $20,000 Judgment Against Kansas City.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 26.
—A judgment of $20,000 obtained by Edward Scanlon against the city of Kansas City, growing out of the injury of his son, Cornelius, then two years and five months old, in a fall on a defective sidewalk on Aug. 8, 1900, was affirmed yesterday afternoon by the Missouri Supreme Court en banc, in the second appeal of the case to the higher court.

The case, which has been pending in Jackson County Circuit Court and in the Supreme Court at intervals for more than 34 years, is an unusual illustration of the slow moving procedure of the courts in civil cases.

The child suffered injuries in the fall which, it was alleged, resulted in permanent paralysis of his lower limbs. In December, 1900, two damage suits were filed against the city, one on behalf of the child and the other on behalf of the child's father for loss of the son's services and for nursing, care and medical attention.

Verdict for City.

The son's suit was tried in November, 1902, and resulted in a verdict for the city. No appeal was taken from that judgment.

The suit filed by the father was dismissed in January, 1904, and was refiled in February of that year.
The case remained on the Jackson County Circuit Court docket until Dec. 3, 1915, when it again was dismissed. It was refiled on Dec. 2, 1916.

The father's suit, after the second refiling, was tried in February, 1923, and resulted in a jury verdict of $30,000 against the city. The city took an appeal, then dismissed the appeal and subsequently sued out a writ of error to the Supreme Court.

Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court, in a hearing on the writ of error, reversed and remanded the case for new trial in July, 1928.

Case Reversed Again.

Division No. 1 later granted a motion for rehearing and again reversed the case, in an opinion by former Supreme Judge W. T. Bag-land of Jefferson City. The reversal was on the ground of error
by the trial court in giving a jury instruction on the value of expert testimony. The decision overruled previous rulings of the court sustaining the particular instruction.
The divisional opinion reversing the case was adopted by the court en banc in May, 1930, after a rehearing before court en banc.

The case was retried in May, 1933, resulting in a $20,000 judgment for Scanlon. The city again appealed.
The opinion handed down yesterday, written by Chief Justice William F. Frank, sustained this judgment.

WOMAN INDICTED IN KILLING OF MAN AT FAIRMOUNT CITY

Mrs. Edna Williams Accused of Beating Frank Finnell to Death in Her Home.

Mrs. Edna Williams of Fairmont
City, was charged with the murder of Frank Finnell, railroad crossing watchman, in an indictment returned today by the St. Clair County grand jury. Finnell was found beaten to death in Mrs. Williams' rooming house last March 12, after participating in a drinking party held the night before.
She has maintained she is innocent.

A warrant for Finnell's murder against John H. Wilson, 486 North Twenty-second street, East St.
Louis, who had been at the rooming house the night before the watchman's death was discovered, was dismissed and no action against him was considered by the grand jury, State's Attorney Zer-wek said.

Thirteen other true bills and eight non-true bills also were returned. The grand jury returned to consider complaints of fraud in the Brooklyn school election, April 13.

NEW INVENTION SAID TO CUT OUT MOST OF RADIO NOISES

Superheterodyne Originator Explains Effect of Using Special Wave System.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 26.—Development of an ultra-short wave system, which the originator declares, will practically eliminate static, tube noises and fading was announced yesterday by Maj. Edwin H. Armstrong, inventor of the superhetero-dyne, super-regenerative and other radio reception devices.

The system, Armstrong explained,
"consists of introducing into the transmission wave a characteristic which does not exist in the waves produced by nature." A receiving system is then used which is responsive only to the waves having the special characteristic, Armstrong added.

NO LONG SOLICITATION HERE

'Share-Our-Wealth' Expenses Borne
by Washington Office.

Earle J. Christenberry, secretary to Senator Huey P. Long, sent a message to the Post-Dispatch today emphasizing that "no one authorized to solicit funds for the Share Our Wealth movement."
"All expenses connected with Senator Long's program are borne by this office," Christenberry said,
"and neither dues, assessments nor contributions are authorized to be solicited by anyone in any city."

PAGE 4B TWO-WAY RADIO SETS TRIED IN POLICE AUTOS

Portable Transmitters Expected to Speed Up Broadcasts of Descriptions of Criminals.

The importance of radio in police work will be greatly increased by installation of radio transmitters in police cars, tests now being made have shown police officials. Sergeant Everett Fisher, supervisor of police radio, who has been conducting the experiments, is enthusiastic over the possibilities of two-way radio communication between police cars and headquarters.

The three scout cars of the Central Police District and Sergeant Fisher's car have been used for tests which have shown the principal value of two-way radio will be in speeding up broadcast of descriptions of criminals fleeing from the scenes of crimes. In the past, broadcast of descriptions and other important information has been delayed until officers found a convenient telephone.

Information in Four Minutes. Last Tuesday, Sergeant Fisher was riding in one of the test cars at Twelfth boulevard and Market street when a radio alarm of a holdup at Grattan street and Chouteau avenue was broadcast. Fisher went to the scene, more than a mile distant, obtained the description of the robbers and relayed it to the radio dispatcher for rebroadcast in less than four minutes. Less than half of that time would have been required if the first cars on the scene had been equipped with radio transmitters.

Wednesday afternoon police received a report that there had been a shooting in the tavern at 406 North Ninth street. One of the Central District test cars responded to the radio alarm and in less than two minutes reported that the call was a fake. This information was relayed to other cars that were speeding to the scene enabling them to return at once to their regular stations.

The value of two-way communication in accidents and other emergencies was demonstrated Tuesday afternoon when one woman was killed and another seriously burned in an explosion and fire at Hotel Statler. Car Two of the Central District was a block away when the officers noticed the fire. They reported it to the dispatcher before the alarm was recorded on the fire alarm system. Keeping in constant touch with the dispatcher they were able to request that ambulances and other assistance be sent to the scene and to report the extent of the emergency.

Another benefit of the system will be that officers in radio cars will be able to acknowledge receipt of calls. At present the dispatcher has no way of knowing whether his orders have been received until the officers call back with the disposition of the case.

The range of the transmitters being used in the tests is comparatively small although accurate reception at headquarters has been obtained from points as far west as Kingshighway and Lindell boulevard. To avoid the confusion of several cars calling the dispatcher at the same time, broadcasts will be made directly to district stations and then relayed by direct wire to the dispatcher.

Five-Foot Aerial Used. Since a vertical aerial five feet long is required for effective broadcasting, transmitters will not be installed in the detective cars. The presence of the aerial would disclose their identity.

Because of the large number of tests and experiments necessary to perfect the system, Sergeant Fisher believes that several months will be needed to equip all scout cars for two-way communication.

500 PROGRESSIVES PICKET MINE AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

Group Boos as Members of U. M. W. of A., the Rival Union, Go to Work but Cause No Trouble.

SHAFT ENTRANCE
HEAVILY GUARDED

Precautions Also Taken at Jail, Where Three Are Held for Murder as Result of Sunday Clash.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 26.—Five hundred Progressive miners picketed the heavily-guarded wood-side mine of the Peabody Coal Co. early today, but caused no trouble as members of the rival union went to work. The pickets dispersed when the 8 o'clock whistle announced that the crew from the United Mine Workers of America had started to work.

Deputy Sheriffs and police, with State highway police in reserve, were ready to stand guard again if picketing should be resumed to-night when the miners start home, or again next week. Under the five-day week, the Woodside mine will not operate tomorrow.

It was the first picketing here in more than a year by members of the Progressive Miners of America, who broke away from the older union three years ago in a contract dispute.

Some Pickets 3 Blocks Away. Officers at the entrance of the mine, within the city limits, outnumbered a small group of Progressive pickets who stood quietly across the street. Two and three blocks away, several hundred men gathered before 6 o'clock, when the United Mine Workers went to their jobs in automobiles, street cars and on foot.

Peabody executives said virtually all of the 350 employees at the mine went to work. It is the only mine now operating in Sangamon County with United Mine Worker labor.

There was a little boozing by the pickets, some of whom came from Southern Illinois, but no organized attempt to keep the members of the rival union from reporting for work.

When the Progressives dispersed and police left the scene, estimates were that more than 500 pickets had been near the mine, most of them keeping in the background. During the night, reports were that 2000 Progressives had assembled in Springfield for a mass attempt to keep members of the United Mine Workers from their jobs and force the coal company to close the mine. No encampments were found in city parks at day-break and most of the Progressives spent the day at their downtown headquarters.

City Jail Is Guarded. Special police and special deputies were called into emergency service last night to guard the city jail where three men, members of the United Mine Workers of America, are held on charges of murder. They are Ray Edmondson, provisional president of the Illinois branch of the United Mine Workers of America; William Furlow of Alton and Fred Thomason, who was wounded in a shooting here Sunday in which Edris Mabie, an organizer of the Progressive Miners, was killed and several other men were wounded.

State's Attorney Greening is reported to have requested Gov. Horner to call out National Guardsmen to cope with the situation today, but in Chicago the Governor said he had received no official notification of the request.

"Unless local officials say they are unable to deal with the situation, the troops will not be called," the Governor said.

Four Years of Violence. Strife has continued in the Illinois mine fields for more than four years as the United Mine Workers, affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, and the Progressive Miners have struggled for dominance of the State's coal mining.

Many deaths and injuries have resulted. Bombings, attributed to both factions, have caused enormous property damage to railroads and mining companies.

Mining authorities have frequently pointed out that the miners, in many instances, are fighting over jobs that no longer exist because production in the Illinois fields has fallen to a fraction of the figure of ten years ago.

MAN SHOTS UP MAIN STREET

By the Associated Press.
YEAGER, Ok., April 26.—Watt Thomas, 35-year-old blacksmith who shot up Main street here in wild west style last night, was in jail at Holdenville with a wounded shoulder today. Residents were terrified when Thomas, alleged to have been drinking, began shooting.

A hole was shot in one man's hat, cars were abandoned, their doors left open, as their occupants scurried to safety and some men took their families to the edge of town. Sheriff Harry Ball and a deputy, Bill Grady, arrested Thomas after a fight in which none apparently sought to hit the others.

SANITY HEARING FOR SON WHO SHOT JUDGE AND WIFE

Texas Prosecutor Asserts If Youth Is Normal 'We Will Prosecute as Hard as We Can.'

By the Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Tex., April 26.—A sanity hearing will be given Howard Pierson, son of Associate Justice William Pierson of the State Supreme Court, who has confessed that he killed his parents Wednesday. Young Pierson, 20 years old, sat broken and dejected in his cell today as District Attorney James P. Hart announced:

"We are going into the case thoroughly and investigate all angles. If we determine he is sane we will prosecute as hard as we can."

Hart had in his possession a signed statement in which young Pierson, a former University of Texas student, detailed how he had shot his father and mother, wounded himself in the arm and then reported they had been shot by highwaymen.

Sheriff Lee Allen said young Pierson admitted killing his parents to obtain $17,000 in life insurance and to avenge wrongs.

"I hope you don't think I am a cold blooded murderer," a cousin, Walter Pierson, quoted young Pierson after a visit to his cell. "I'm not. I don't know why I did it. I wanted to go to school and become a great scientist but father said he couldn't send me."

Walter Pierson said he was convinced young Pierson was laboring under hallucinations that his father had not favored him as he had another brother and a sister. An opinion that young Pierson was suffering from dementia praecox was expressed by Dr. Joe Wooten, family physician.

"He often spoke of discriminations of his parents against him," said G. N. Stovall, warehouse foreman of an oil company for which Pierson was working. "I think he magnified these things and brooded over them too much. He always seemed to take everything at its face value, and seemed unable to take a joke or pass off a trivial matter."

The bodies of the Justice and his wife will lie in state in the Supreme Court chambers this afternoon. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning.

In an inside pocket of young Pierson's coat, police reported finding a recommendation, full of praise, written by his father in an effort to get his son a job with an oil company. Justice Pierson praised his son as "thoroughly sound in character, vigorous in body, industrious, reliable, loyal."

Friends and relatives were at a loss to explain the youth's desire to kill his parents. They said he was a quiet, unassuming young man. His grades in high school were average except that he made excellent grades in science courses. He showed little interest in outside activities.

State officials and members of the Legislature were shocked. Gov. James V. Alford, who participated personally in early stages of the investigation, said he was "stunned" and "it is too terrible for words."

East St. Louisan Dies of Poison.
Homer Cunningham, 40-year-old mechanic, 610 State street, East St. Louis, died of poisoning at St. Mary's Hospital last night. Police found an empty bottle which had contained poison beside a whisky bottle in his home. His wife, Mrs. Veronica Cunningham, told police she knew of no reason why her husband would end his life. Two sons also survive.

$260,000 SUSPECT

ROCCO J. DE GRASSE
ARRESTED in Portland, Ore., yesterday on a Chicago indictment charging him as one of the men in the $260,000 mail robbery of Dec. 6, 1932. His 4-year-old son led police to the apartment where De Grasse was sleeping.

REORGANIZATION PLEAS DENIED ON APPEAL

Rulings Against Skouras Holding Company and St. Louis Can Co. Upheld.

The United States Court of Appeals, in written opinions filed here yesterday, refused to hear appeals from the action of the District Court in two St. Louis cases under the Bankruptcy Act. The cases were those of the St. Louis Properties Corporation, the Skouras Theatrical Holding Co., and the St. Louis Can Co. Judge Davis in the former case, and Judge Farris in the latter, dismissed petitions for reorganization.

The same ruling was made in other similar cases from other parts of the court circuit. The Court's opinion, written by Judge Woodrough, states that the Federal Bankruptcy Act provides that the Court of Appeals shall have power, at its discretion, to disallow and dismiss appeals in cases arising under the act.

Judge Farris' ruling, in the case of the can company was made last Sept. 26, the Court holding that the company was in such a state of insolvency that reorganization would not be beneficial. In the Skouras case, July 11, Judge Davis held that a reorganization proposed in involuntary debtors' suits was unnecessary, as reorganization by bondholders and sale of the properties had already been approved.

WOMAN TRIES TO THROW SELF UNDER EX-KAISER'S AUTO

Attempt Follows Effort to Get Into Doorn House; She Is Sent Back to Belgium.

By the Associated Press.
DOORN, Netherlands, April 26.—A Belgian woman tried to force her way into Doorn House to see the former Kaiser of Germany today, on the plea that she wanted to inquire about Wilhelm's health. She was turned back.

Later she tried to throw herself under the ex-Kaiser's automobile as it was driven out of the grounds, but a policeman prevented her and took her into custody. Netherlands authorities sent her back to Belgium. Police said they thought she was demented.

NORTH DAKOTA'S TAX ON RAILROAD UPHELD

Great Northern Had Contended $78,832,888 Valuation Was 43 Pct. Too High.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in a decision written by Judge Kimbrough Stone and filed yesterday in St. Louis, upheld the State and county taxing authorities of North Dakota in collecting taxes from the Great Northern Railroad on a valuation of $78,832,888 for the year 1933.

Judges Charles B. Faris and John B. Sanborn concurred in the decision, which affirmed a decision of the Federal District Court of North Dakota. Judge Sanborn added comments expressing his belief that the railroads are "unreasonably overburdened with State taxes."

The Great Northern sued the State and county taxing officials to enjoin them from collecting taxes levied against the railroad for 1933, on an assessed valuation described as the "true and full value in money," and amounting to the figure given. The railroad company contended that the valuation, which was the same as that for 1932, was excessive by 43 per cent.

In reply, the State and county authorities said the valuation was based on the five-factor method—trackage, car and locomotive miles, tonnage and passenger miles, gross revenue earned, and physical properties, all within the State. The railroad contended that a large part of these values was, in fact, outside the State. The District Court dismissed the railroad's suit for lack of equity.

Affirming the District Court's action, the Court of Appeals says no excessive valuation was proven. During the 14 years previous, it finds, there was only one increase in the road's assessment, in the amount of $1,028,291 made in 1929 while there were more reductions of a total of $12,459,916, of which about one-third, or $4,149,973 was in the 1932 assessment, repeated in 1933.

The court finds that the average assessment for the four years preceding 1933 was 99.07 per cent of the true value of the railroad properties in the State, on the basis of the five-factor calculation. This, the court says, suggests serious consideration and an attempt at just treatment.

Judge Sanborn, concurring in the court's finding, agrees that on the record in the case, the District Court was justified in its decision. "But," he adds, "no group of men in 1933 who were able, ready and willing to buy the Great Northern system, and who were clothed in their right minds, would have paid, as a result of fair negotiations, any such sum for the North Dakota portion as was fixed here."

"I am suffering from no illusions with respect to the great changes which took place in the value of all railway properties between 1929 and 1933. It may be impossible now for the Federal courts to grant any relief to interstate commerce from over-taxation, possibly resulting from honest errors of judgment; but I believe that if interstate commerce by rail continues to be unreasonably overburdened with state taxes, either Congress or the courts will soon find some way to protect it."

INQUIRY IN ILLINOIS STRIKE
Leo Jonas, Centralia, Says State Board Will Take Action.

By the Associated Press.
CENTRALIA, Ill., April 26.—An investigation of a strike of Illinois Power & Light Corporation workers which has cut off gas supply to at least four Southern Illinois communities and disrupted electric service to others, will be begun by the Illinois Commerce Commission today, Leo Jonas, City Attorney of Centralia, said.

OREGON STATE CAPITOL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fireman Killed by Crumbling Chimney—Loss on Building Is $700,000.

By the Associated Press.
SALEM, Ore., April 26.—Oregon's state capitol was destroyed last night by a fire in which Fireman Floyd McMullen, a Willamette University sophomore, was killed. He was crushed by a crumbling chimney. A Civilian Conservation Corps worker was injured by falling bricks.

The fire started in the basement of the 60-year-old building, went up an elevator shaft, swept through the rotunda and caused the 187-foot copper dome to collapse a little more than an hour after the flames were discovered.

A few personal effects and records were the only articles saved from the office of Gov. Charles H. Martin on the second floor.

The building, which housed the executive offices, the main departmental offices and the Senate and House chambers, cost $700,000. The value of equipment, records and historical relics was estimated at $800,000.

Theoretically the State carries its own insurance in a "restoration" fund, but it contained only $140,000.

Today Oregon's State departments were scattered over Salem's business section. The Secretary of State's office was established temporarily at the armory, where most of the salvaged records and equipment from the ground floor of the capitol were taken. The State Treasury will be at a bank where some $15,000,000 of State securities was kept.

MAN BUILT SEAPLANE RAMP AFTER HE HAD SEEN ONLY ONE

Testifies He's Not a Licensed Engineer; New York Inquiry Alleges $150,000 Blunder.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 26.—The man who designed and built the city's two seaplane ramps in the East River, at a cost of $218,000, acknowledged at the municipal relief inquiry yesterday that he had never seen more than one seaplane ramp in his life. Other witnesses had testified that engineering blunders had added $150,000 to cost of the ramps.

C. Keith Pevear testified that he undertook to build the ramps, although he was neither a licensed engineer nor a seaplane ramp expert. He insisted, however, that he had attended an engineering school and had some technical experience. While the projects were under way, he said, he had no idea what they were costing.

The Deputy Commissioner of Docks, F. William Zeiler, who appointed Pevear, said he did not know until yesterday that Pevear had seen only one seaplane ramp prior to his engagement. Aldermanic President Bernard S. Deutsch, chairman of the investigating committee, picked out one $69,000 item in the cost of the ramps and drew from Zeiler an admission that this expenditure was due to "errors in the estimate on the work and waste due to errors."

Why an ELECTRIC WASHER means so much to us

by ESTHER LEE BRIDE

HOME ECONOMIST, Union Electric Light and Power Company

HALF the women in St. Louis have an electric washing machine. All the other half want one! No wonder. The washer is the outstanding labor saver. We all know what wash day means, the old fashioned way. Scrub, scrub, scrub. Hot, soapy lumps pouring out over our faces, enlarging pores, stringing out the precious waves from our hair. Our shoulders get stooped, and our arms get tired, and our dispositions get ruffled!

Goodbye drudgery! There's no reason to put up with it. No reason at all to work like Chinese coolies. Not in this day and age. Not when we can get an Electric Washing Machine, with the strength of four husky women. There's no mystery in its work, except that it is so quick and efficient. It does exactly what you do by hand—and gives perfect results every time.

We like home washing Most of us would like the washing done at home. We like sweet clean clothes turned out right under our own roof, with home supervision. We like to know that our clothes, and our table and bed linens, are getting the careful treatment that prolongs their life. The Electric Washer is the answer. Plenty of clean clothes. Snowy white piles of them. Yet no fatigue. No dread of Monday.

What about costs? The beautiful new models are down in price, perhaps more than you've realized. Prices range from $15 to $160, depending on size, materials, finish, and the various refinements the different manufacturers have introduced. Study the models put out by reputable manufacturers. Then enlist your dealer's help in deciding which one best fits your needs. Your interested dealer will point out the advantages of things you might not think of. Like castors—which should be strong. Controls—which should be within easy reach without stooping. Good enamel. Rust proof exposed metal.

So cheap to operate! The most exciting news your dealer will give you is the story of low cost of electricity to operate an Electric Washer. You'd probably never guess how little it amounts to, in the average St. Louis home. Just about a nickel a month! Think of it. An average-size family wash, done without effort on your part. Dirt gently loosened and washed out by scientific action. With speed, too. Twenty minutes or less for each tubful. Heavy things, like blankets, small rugs and mats, are as easy as anything else. All for a nickel a month! The back breaking age dismissed forever—for a year! This price is so low because

HARRISON HITS AT MONOPOLIES IN NRA AMENDMENTS

Mississippi Also Proposes Curb on Price Fixing Under Codes, Would Limit Authorities.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 26.—Amendments to the NRA extension bill to tighten up enforcement of the anti-trust laws and prohibit price fixing except for natural resource industries were introduced in the Senate today by Chairman Harrison of the Finance Committee. He also proposed limitation on the power of code authorities.

His amendments to the bill he previously introduced would give the Federal Trade Commission authority to issue "cease and desist" orders when it found "destructive price cutting."

Harrison said later he would take up with President Roosevelt this week-end a demand raised in his committee today by Senator Clark (Dem., Missouri), that the present recovery law be extended until the Supreme Court decides its constitutionality and the writing of a new law be postponed until next session.

Amendments Change Bill. Four amendments to completely change the language of his original bill regarding monopolies and price fixing were introduced by the Mississippi. The new language would outlaw monopolies and exclude from the codes "provisions promoting or sanctioning agreements or concerted action for the private fixing of prices or controlling of production or distribution."

However, the amendment would specifically permit industrial leaders to get together to agree on codes which could include: Prohibitions of unfair business practices "generally recognized as being dishonest, fraudulent or otherwise unfair."

Such provisions "as may be found by the President to be necessary and proper to protect small enterprises against discrimination or oppression, or to defend the growth of monopolies, which may include provisions against unfair competition resulting from discriminatory or oppressive price fixing by concerted or individual action."

Unfair Business Practices. Prohibitions against any unfair business practices (provided they do not promote price fixing or production control). Provisions for the collection of information.

Provisions "for the regulation of production found necessary and proper in exceptional industries (including natural resource industries) and in emergencies to prevent or to correct, under Governmental control, a depression in a trade or industry resulting from production largely in excess of effective demand."

Provisions "for the regulation of prices under Governmental control in those natural resource industries which are not otherwise subject to such Governmental regulation but which are found to be so affected with a public interest that such regulation is necessary for the protection of the public interest."

$1000 ANNUAL PRIZE AWARDED FOR YOUNG SCIENTIFIC GENIUS

Chemical Society Selects Dr. R. M. Fuoss of Brown U. for Electrolytic Solutions.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 26.—The $1000 annual prize for a young scientific genius was announced last night by the American Chemical Society for Dr. Raymond M. Fuoss, 29 years old, assistant professor of Chemistry of Brown University.

The medal, which the society awards only once every three years, and which is considered one of the highest honors in chemistry, was announced for Dr. William Albert Noyes, 78, emeritus director of laboratories of the University of Illinois.

Fuoss is a native of Bellwood, Pa., and a graduate of Harvard, the award is for his work in producing the "first comprehensive theory of electrolytic solutions. Before his work it was only known what happened to water solutions when an electric current was passed through them. Dr. Fuoss found out what probably will happen in any kind of liquid.

A practical result is that chemists now can predict what will happen to their solutions, by taking into account the electrical conductivity, temperatures and some other constants.

LOSES $15 IN JOB SWINDLE

Roy Inman Says He Paid 'Fixer' But Didn't Get Place.

Complaint that he paid $15 to a man who promised to obtain him a job as chauffeur for the Board of Education was made to police yesterday by Roy Inman, 924A Talmadge avenue.

Inman said the man wanted $25, but agreed to accept $15 last September on Inman's promise that the rest would be paid when he got the job. After a visit to City Hall the man said "it is all fixed up." Inman reported, but he was not called to work. Inman said he was unable to get an explanation from the "fixer."

NEW VILLAGE OF LAKETON ASKS FOR INCORPORATION

Includes About Half of Territory Formerly in Disincorporated Affton.

A petition for incorporation of a new village to be called Laketon was filed with the St. Louis County Court yesterday by 17 residents, who said they expected to file about 300 more signatures later. The Court was asked to delay a hearing until it was requested. The village, containing about four square miles, would include about half of the territory formerly in the village of Affton, which was disincorporated April 12. Its boundaries, all to the north of Gravois road, would be the St. Louis city limits on the east, the Frisco Railway on the north and west, and, on the south, the western extension of Weber road, Mackenzie road, Gardeville and Mathilda avenues and Grant boulevard, but the subdivision of Lakewood would be excluded from this area.

Affton was disincorporated because of objections to the traffic police and Police Court maintained on the fee system and the imposition of automobile and dog license taxes. The movement for Laketon was directed by the Heege Progress-

sive Association, of which H. E. Hopkins is president. Elmer Jenkins, real estate dealer, 3828 Heege road, one of the signers of the petition, said Laketon would not have taxes or the fee system, but desired a corporate status merely to avoid annexation by the nearby Shrewsbury or Webster Groves—which was the original reason for establishment of Affton.

Mother of Norman Davis Dies. NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 26.—Mrs. Christina L. Davis, 81 years old, mother of Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador-at-large, died here last night after an illness of several months.

ALLEGED MURDERER OF THREE CAUGHT DRESSED AS WOMAN

Captured When Auto Plunges Into River During Chase by Officers.

By the Associated Press. MADISONVILLE, Tenn., April 26.—Wearing a woman's dress, hat, slippers and underclothing, Bill Lee, 23 years old, sought since last February on charges of killing his grandparents and a friend, was captured yesterday after a 48-hour chase which ended near Murphy,

N. C. Lee's automobile, the tires shot down by pursuing North Carolina officers, plunged over a 40-foot embankment into Hanging Dog Creek, five miles from Murphy. Lee and two youths riding in the car with him swam out and were taken into custody. Sheriff Hugh Webster returned Lee to jail here last night. Lee was slightly wounded by a bullet.

The youth's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Shaw, both about 60, and Matt Hensley, 65, were killed at the Shaw home near Tellico Plains the night of Feb. 22. Shaw and Hensley were killed with a shotgun and Mrs. Shaw was clubbed to death with a gunstock. The killer escaped in an automobile owned by the Shaws. Money and jewelry were missing from the home, officers said.

The deputy said "Lee hasn't talked much." The two youths taken into custody with Lee, the deputy said, refused to give their names. They were placed in jail.

Two NRA Units Clash Openly on Colt Co. Ruling

Richberg at Senate Muni-cations Inquiry Calls Blue Eagle Removal by Labor Board 'Mistake.'

Biddle Presents His Side of Case

Hearing Brings Out Arms
Makers Holding Essential
Patents Are in Position to Defy NRA.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Arms
makers holding essential patents are in a position to defy the NRA in what was brought out before the Senate committee investigating the gun situation today.

Biddle, Chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, and Richberg, Chairman of the Recovery Board, facing each other across the witness table testified to an unalterable disagreement between the two branches of the Government that they represent. The case that has led to this open clash between the National Labor Relations Board and the Recovery Administration concerns a wage scale at the Hartford, Conn., Colt Co. plant.

Richberg testified that the NRA
Board had made its decision without regard to the record of the dispute before the labor board, basing it upon a statement of the Colt
Co. that they were ready to meet
the joint council as representing employees in the plant. Whether they were to sign a possible agreement as union representatives or as individuals was irrelevant, Rich-
berg said.

Strike to Enforce Findings.
The strike which followed breakdown of negotiations was an attempt to enforce the findings of the Labor Board, Biddle testified.

It was because of this strike, Richberg said, that the NRA had not handed back the Blue Eagle sooner. It might have seemed, he said,
a gesture in aid of the company.

He added that the NRA symbol had been removed by NRA's compliance
division before the Recovery Board had made a study of the complex
case.

"Have there been any other cases
in which departments of the Government have not been notified of removal of the Blue Eagle?" Clark
asked.

"I'm not sure," Richberg replied.
"The Recovery Board and the Department of Justice were in agreement," Richberg said, "that this was not an adequate case for defense in the Labor Board. The Labor Board takes the stand that this is not compliance, then the Recovery Board and the Department of Justice disagree."

"Failure to reach an agreement
can't possibly be a violation of 7A,"
the NRA head added. "You can't compel an agreement out of a free
discussion."

Richberg and Biddle, long at odds, exchange no words beyond
the formal necessities of the hearing. They were both flanked with their legal aids. Several times
Richberg was discomfited by questions put by committee members
and now and then he showed impatience when pressed to make his interpretation of 7A clearer. He emerged today from a "hideout"

where he is preparing the defense
of NRA before the Supreme Court
in the Schechter case, that will be argued on Monday.

Interpretations Not Binding.
"I am not bound by the findings of the National Labor Relations Board except as to their finding of fact. We are not bound by its interpretation of law. After we must stand suit on the removal of the Blue Eagle. We could stand suit if we did not think
it was right."

Richberg said. "You can't stand
suit on the NRA's right, can you?"
Senator Vandenberg (Rep.)
asked.

Some time ago in testifying before the Senate Committee on the Labor disputes bill, Biddle
said that his board was more or less powerless to enforce its decisions in Section 7A because the Department of Justice could not act on the board's recommendations.

Richberg's stand today was the Biddle board in an even more anomalous position for Biddle has been able to enforce the co-operation of the board to remove Blue Eagle in cases
the board has found violation of Biddle's Board.

Biddle said, the other two members of the board have indicated
they will resign if Congress passes the Wagner labor disputes bill, which would give independent powers and sanctions to the board. Biddle has said it was clear that he was in a position at present to be entirely futile.

Richberg said. "We are not bound by the findings of the National Labor Relations Board except as to their finding of fact. We are not bound by its interpretation of law. After
we must stand suit on the removal of the Blue Eagle. We could

50,000 Join in Prayers At Grotto of Lourdes

Cardinal Pacelli and Pilgrims Present at Opening of Triduum Marking End of Holy Year.

By the Associated Press.

LOURDES, France, April 26.—A triduum, or three-day period of prayer, marking the end of the Holy Year, began at the famous Grotto of Lourdes at 4 p. m. yesterday.
Priests in red and purple led some 50,000 pilgrims in the ceremonies.
Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, legate of the Pope, was in attendance.

During the night pilgrims packed the open space outside the Grotto where Saint Bernadette said she saw the Virgin. Searchlights illuminated the entrance to the shrine, and lights gleamed on the Basilica and other buildings.

Many of the thousands who have come here for the ceremonies slept on the ground outside the Grotto.
Accommodations in Lourdes and neighboring towns and villages were sufficient for only a small number. Many remained only a few hours, then started their homeward journeys. It is estimated that 200,000 will have joined in the prayers at the shrine before the triduum closes.

has been before various agencies of the Government. Biddle testified today in answer to questions from Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, committee chairman, that he had given the Colt Co. every opportunity to comply, even to "unusual extensions" of time. The case turned, according to Biddle, on the company's refusal to deal with a joint council of employees as representatives of three unions that had enrolled about 80 per cent of all the workers in the plant.

Richberg testified that the NRA
Board had made its decision without regard to the record of the
dispute before the labor board, bas-
ing it upon a statement of the Colt
Co. that they were ready to meet
the joint council as representing
employees in the plant. Whether they were to sign a possible agreement as union representatives or as individuals was irrelevant, Rich-
berg said.

Strike to Enforce Findings.
The strike which followed breakdown of negotiations was an attempt to enforce the findings of
the Labor Board, Biddle testified.

It was because of this strike, Rich-
berg said, that the NRA had not
handed back the Blue Eagle soon-
er. It might have seemed, he said,
a gesture in aid of the company.

He added that the NRA symbol had
been removed by NRA's compliance
division before the Recovery Board
had made a study of the complex
case.

"Have there been any other cases
in which departments of the Government have not been notified of removal of the Blue Eagle?" Clark
asked.

"I'm not sure," Richberg replied.
"The Recovery Board and the Department of Justice were in agreement," Richberg said, "that this was not an adequate case for defense in the Labor Board. The Labor Board takes the stand that
Recovery Board and the Department of Justice disagree."

"Failure to reach an agreement
can't possibly be a violation of 7A,"
the NRA head added. "You can't compel an agreement out of a free
discussion."

Richberg and Biddle, long at odds, exchange no words beyond
the formal necessities of the hearing. They were both flanked with their legal aids. Several times
Richberg was discomfited by questions put by committee members
and now and then he showed im-
patience when pressed to make his interpretation of 7A clearer. He emerged today from a "hideout"

where he is preparing the defense
of NRA before the Supreme Court
in the Schechter case, that will be argued on Monday.

Interpretations Not Binding.
"I am not bound by the findings of the National Labor Relations Board except as to their finding of fact. We are not bound by its interpretation of law. After
we must stand suit on the removal of the Blue Eagle. We could stand suit if we did not think
it was right."

Richberg said. "You can't stand
suit on the NRA's right, can you?"
Senator Vandenberg (Rep.)
asked.

Some time ago in testifying before the Senate Committee on the Labor disputes bill, Biddle
said that his board was more or less powerless to enforce its decisions in Section 7A because the Department of Justice could not
act on the board's recommendations.

Richberg's stand today was the Biddle board in an even more anomalous position for Biddle has been able to enforce the co-operation of the board to remove Blue Eagle in cases
the board has found violation of Biddle's Board.

Biddle said, the other two members of the board have indicated
they will resign if Congress
passes the Wagner labor disputes bill, which would give independent powers and sanctions to the board. Biddle has
said it was clear that he was in a position at present to be entirely futile.

Richberg said. "We are not bound

REDS DENOUNCE KING'S JUBILEE AS 'SQUANDERMANIA'

London Communists in Manifesto Call for Protest Demonstrations May 1.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 26.—Communists openly made known their stand yesterday on "royal squandermania," as they call the celebration of King George V's silver jubilee which will begin May 6.

A manifesto issued by leaders of the "London First of May Committee" called the period "25 years of robbery of workers in which millions of our brothers have been slain, mutilated, gassed and tortured." The Communist newspaper, Daily Worker, jibed at prices paid for good seats from which to see the jubilee procession.

The Communist manifesto said:
"Let them have their May 6 and their jubilee; we have no cause to rejoice. Our day is May 1. March on that day to give a clear and determined reply of the working class."

Asserting all but the cheapest seats for the jubilee procession are going begging, the Daily Worker said for five guineas (about $26), the seat-purchaser might see "the show of a lifetime." George dressed up to look like an Admiral or a Field Marshal. And Mary in her Sunday best. And members of the royal family in 15 cars."

Radicals were busy organizing workers' rallies to demonstrate against the great cost to the state of the celebration. In view of the crowds which will line the procession route to St. Paul's Cathedral.
The expense of the jubilee has been sharply criticized in Parliament, notably by the fiery Laborite, Jack McGovern.

MACDONALD FACES ATTACK FROM TWO SIDES OF HOUSE

Labor Group to Assail Article, Bigger Air Corps Advocates to Demand Expansion.

LONDON, April 26.—The British Cabinet will be subjected to criticism from two sides of the House of Commons next week when Labor party members assail Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald for his new criticism of Germany and the "big-air" corps' group demands a fast expansion of the Royal Air Force.

The Laborites have decided to make MacDonald's article in his National Labor magazine, "The News Letter," the basis for their attack on the Government's foreign policy, alleging the article has made the situation on the continent worse.

Members of the Cabinet are greatly concerned over Germany's future air program, but they are said to feel that the present expansion plans are sufficient to meet requirements now.

George Lansbury, Labor leader and former colleague of MacDonald, said: "I very much regret the Prime Minister should have written such an article. These are days when we should be damping down instead of stimulating antagonisms."

SINKING LOYAL TO CHINA

Governor Says He Will Resist Ef-

MOSCOW, April 26.—Dispatches from Baotou said today the Government of Sinkiang, the Chinese province bounded by Mongolia, Tibet and Soviet Russia, had emphasized its loyalty to the National Government of China. The dispatches said the province would resist any attempts to sever it from China.

Gov. Cheng Chit Sai, addressing a conference of princes, priests and representatives of the people in the capital city, Urumchi, said the principal task of his government was "repelling imperialist attacks and the maintaining of China's sovereignty over the province."

BAILEY ATTACKS FATHER COUGHLIN IN SENATE SPEECH

Challenges His "Priestly Right to Promise Harp and Halo to People by Political Action."

ASSAILS HIM AS MAN AND NOT AS PRIEST

North Carolinian, Former Baptist Editor, Makes Remarks in Opposing Anti-Lynching Bill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Senator Bailey (Dem.), North Carolina, bitterly assailed the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin yesterday in a speech in the Senate in which he challenged the "priestly power" of the radio priest to "promise a harp and halo to the American people by political action."

Bailey, former Baptist church editor, who comes from a family of ministers, made his attack on "Coughlin—not Father Coughlin," as he termed it, while opposing the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill.
He apparently was moved to do so by Father Coughlin's speech in Detroit Wednesday night in which the priest projected his National Union for Social Justice into the political field.

There was no answering remarks.
Some Senators, however, thought Senator Long (Dem.), Louisiana, who believes the Detroit priest has a "strong program," might have something to say on the subject when he speaks before the farmers' holiday national convention at Des Moines.

Bailey's Attack on Priest.

The text of Bailey's remarks about Father Coughlin and his transition from an attack on the anti-lynching bill, as recorded by the official recorder follows:
"Some of us here in the Senate find our voices too feeble to stretch across the continent, and our humble words drowned in a universal din of hysteria and confusion, and the clear, patient words of national life all obliterated and obscured in the raucous noise that comes from Coughlin over the radio.

"Perhaps when we cease to be heard, a bill like this will notify the nation. If I do not miss my calculations, the reverberations, if it shall, will drown the voice of Coughlin, and then we may thank God for the bill.

"I did not mean on this occasion to speak about Coughlin. I will make my point clear. I left off his title, and I did it deliberately. In his church—and I shall always speak respectfully of all churches—he can be called 'Father,' but he cannot be called 'Father' in American politics.

"In his church he may have his priestly robes and his power of absolution; but when he undertakes to promise a harp and a halo to the American people by political action,
I challenge his priestly power."

Terms Activities 'Sinister.'

"There is nothing more sinister in our life right now than this—that Coughlin, from the radio of the Little Flower—the little saint of suffering who interpreted her life by way of identifying herself with the agonies on the cross, who died expressing the prayer that she might return to earth than go to Heaven and come back, as she said in immortal words, in a shower of roses—from a shrine in her holy name that the voice stirs the depths of hate throughout the land of liberty, matches class against class, fantoms the fires of revolution, and crucifies the American people upon his damnable ambition. Coughlin—not 'Father' Coughlin!"

"Mr. President, I have a profound respect for the ministry. My father was a minister. My grandfather was a minister. Of course, I honor the ministry, but they are not just the reasons.

"I honor the ministry because it is the ministry; but when a minister of the gospel or a minister of a church comes down into the political arena, or goes out with his radio incendiary to stir up the fountains of hate in a distressed land amongst a suffering people, I take it nothing amiss, and I make no apologies; but I will snatch the halo from his brow and throw it into the nearest spittoon, and then throw the spittoon into the gutter."

TAXES SUGGESTED BY MORGENTHAU TO FINANCE BONUS

Increased Levies on Gifts and Bequests Secretary Thinks Might Yield $600,000,000 a Year.

By RAYMOND F. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Now that the "financial logjam" is supposed to be broken and money once again is loosening up in the investor's pocket, it is a good thing to keep an eye on the Securities and Exchange Commission.

That commission, established for one of the hardest battles ever fought between Wall street and Washington, now has been functioning about nine months.

During that time it has come to the notice of the most sincere, and on the whole, effective of New Deal commissions. This is due chiefly to the fact that the President started off the SEC with a genuinely high-grade group of commissioners.

That perhaps because the quality of the personnel is so far above par, it is expected from the SEC that it will be the first of many other New Deal agencies. At any rate, certain weaknesses have developed in the administration of the Securities and Stock Exchange acts, though principally the fault of the acts themselves.

Legal Truth.

CHIEF among these is the fact that the law merely requires a company registering a stock or bond to tell the truth. The company may be as crooked as a dog's hind leg, but if it states the truth in its prospectus issued to the public there is no way the SEC can stop the sale of the security.

This is the greatest illusion the investing public cherishes about the SEC. The unsuspecting man-investor, who has been duped by the SEC, is as sound as the Rock of Gibraltar, whereas the company that has been duped by the SEC is as pure as the driven snow. The SEC is as pure as the driven snow, and its actions as illusive as a firefly.

One of the severest tongue-lashes ever given by the volatile Ferdinand Pecora, former SEC Commissioner, was administered to a man who had lost money in United States Smelting, a fraudulent stock, and then came to the SEC to ask the commission to stop it.

Lenient.

THE SEC has not leaned backward to aid the unwary investor in avoiding some of these traps. In fact, its ruling on the registration of the Northern Power Co. has let it in for a terrific criticism.

In this, the company purported to show an "earned surplus" of over $1,000,000, although Anderson, the accountant, admitted to this, and indicated that instead, by one form of bookkeeping the company had a deficit of $1,100,000. Thus, according to the accountant, the company's surplus was overinflated by more than $2,100,000.

A 3-4-2 vote, however, the SEC decided to let the company off. The Secretary of Labor may issue orders in cases where portable aliens are "of good character" or have citizen relatives. Denied in cases of aliens engaged in "subversive political conduct."

It is a loose-lipped phrase and is used to apply to violators of the law. How easy it is to mislead is seen by the absurd action of the Department in arresting the Strachey and then being up to the case.

All would not let down bars to the case. Since it decreases the liability in a preference status, for those permitted to remain, it is the number in the criminal class, it should reduce the number.

It is a law that works like cobwebs, little particles and letting fall through. This is a law that on worthy aliens and their let the big crooks get by.

SMUGGLING ONIONS.

Wayne Evening Sun. Highway, prohibition or no prohibition, there still work for the border. The eastern shore of Michigan, from Huron to Toledo, the smugglers work. Only they have substituted for liquor and Canadian ale, a natural that the high-speed system operating on the border, the other little towns on the Michigan shores should seek to replace rum-running. No low much capital was tied up in the system, and capital was not needed. Canada has to export the rum boats will carry, smuggling this fearful cargo may be a way to get used to new laws on the Detroit River as 300 tons are seized by Federal agents.

Yale had already been mortally wounded by the contemporary of the President's attitude to business as follows:

It is a law that works like cobwebs, little particles and letting fall through. This is a law that on worthy aliens and their let the big crooks get by.

The income rates, he said, would yield $300,000,000 in 1936 and might bring in as much as $600,000,000. "Our present estate tax," he explained, "is estimated to yield some $190,000,000 in 1936. It may be observed that, from estate and inheritance taxes, England with a population of approximately one-third that of the United States, and a smaller per capita wealth and income, collected more than $400,000,000 in death duties in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1935."

Substitute for Inflation. Morgenthau's estate and gift tax proposal was the Treasury Department's choice over the inflationary "greenback" proposal contained in the Patman bonus bill that passed the House. When Morgenthau testified at the Senate Finance Committee hearing on the bonus bills, he said that the three under consideration, the Patman, the Vinson and the Harrison bills, would require large outlays from the Treasury.

By an amendment to the Harrison bill yesterday, the committee changed the original proposal to give the veterans government bonds bearing 3 per cent annually, to an option of taking government bonds or cash. The Treasury administration estimated that under this amendment the Treasury might be called on to pay out $900,000,000 within 12 months after the passage of the act. The amendment, which might be required, the administration explained, would depend on how many veterans selected bonds or cash and how many held their present bonus certificates until 1945, the date when the present certificates will cease to bear interest under the Harrison plan.

Republicans Fight for Immediate Cash Payment. WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Harrison plan for compromising the bonus issue ran into difficulty today in the form of a Republican fight for the Vinson bill to pay the bonus in full immediately.

Senate Republicans were lining up almost unanimously for the Vinson measure, which was defeated in the House by a narrow margin. Senator McNary, minority leader, issued a call for a party conference tomorrow to discuss the issue.

The stand of the Republican forces troubled administration leaders who were seeking to put through the Harrison measure as a compromise which, its author says, would be acceptable to President Roosevelt.

A combination of Republicans and Democrats pledged to support full cash payment might upset the plans of the administration leaders to save President Roosevelt from vetoing a cash payment plan.

The compromise bill, which was approved yesterday by the Senate Finance Committee, was introduced by Chairman Harrison of that committee, after a conference with the Chief Executive. While the White House has made no definite commitment, Mr. Roosevelt's friends were confident he would sign the bill if passed by Congress.

In the committee the Republicans voted almost solidly for the Vinson plan rather than the Harrison bill. Even those like Couzens of Michigan and Hastings of Delaware who oppose cash payment, voted for the Vinson measure in preference to the compromise.

Under plans of administration leaders, the bonus bill will be called up Monday.

Veterans' Bureau estimates of the money required under the three bills are: Patman, $2,201,934,000; Vinson $2,263,345,000; Harrison $1,199,686,000. Supporters of the Patman plan say that it would not require an appropriation because new money would be used.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau gave to Chairman Harrison yesterday a plan for a Federal inheritance tax to raise $200,000,000. Morgenthau said the Treasury would recommend this plan if any bonus bill were enacted.

WIFE DIVORCES A. A. MEYER Charges Statistician With General Indignities.

Mrs. Grace Walsh Meyer, 751 Dickson road, Kirkwood, a maid at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in 1924, obtained a divorce from Alfred A. Meyer, statistician for the investment firm of I. M. Simon & Co., in Circuit Judge McElhinney's court at Clayton today.

She listed general indignities. The court awarded her $20 a month alimony, custody of the two children, Christine, 5 years old and Alfred Jr., 3, and $30 a month for support. Meyer did not contest. The pair separated last Monday. Their wedding at St. Peter's Episcopal Church Dec. 5, 1925, was a social event.

"I can't afford to be without KITCHEN KLENZER"

Says
Mrs. Florentine Baker
1639a N. 18th St., St. Louis, Mo.

"I always say the way to keep our food safe to eat is to keep our refrigerator immaculately clean, and the best way to do that is with Kitchen Klenzer. It keeps our refrigerator free from dirt and germs, and leaves the metal parts bright, the drain pipes open, and the original luster on the porcelain."

There is only one Kitchen Klenzer. Be sure you get it when you order it. If your dealer does not have Kitchen Klenzer, stop at some other store where it is sold.

To clean refrigerators, use Kitchen Klenzer freely. Rinse well. It keeps the drain pipes open, removes all odors and polishes as it cleans.

A LITTLE CHAT ABOUT NEXT WEEK'S MENUS BANISH GLOOM WITH SPRING DESSERTS

Make the Most of Asparagus Which Is Reasonably Priced Now.

Fresh asparagus is one of the best foods the spring season has to offer and fortunately it is now well within our food allowance. A large bunch weighs about 2½ pounds, costs anywhere from 25 to 40 cents and will serve six people generously. In many markets it is possible to buy asparagus loose by the pound and in others two sizes of bunches may be had, the smaller ones weighing about a pound. In buying it, select thick stalks, either the green or white variety, as you prefer. Avoid any in which the stalks are discolored, speckled or have shriveled tops. Also avoid asparagus with brown specks on the stalks—these are an indication of rust and denote an inferior product. Keep asparagus moist until it is cooked by placing the bunch upright in a dish or pan with about one-quarter inch of water in the pan—just enough to wet the ends of the stalks. When cooking asparagus, allow 20 to 25 minutes and use rapidly boiling, salted water.

We have used asparagus twice in this week's menu—for Sunday dinner with Hollandaise sauce and to make the main course of the vegetable dinner served on Thursday. This meal uses stalks of the asparagus, boiled until tender, arranged on toast and covered generously with well-flavored white sauce containing slices of fresh mushrooms. Cheesecake is sprinkled over the sauce and the mixture is run under the broiler flame for two or three minutes to melt the cheese quickly. Two or three crisp bacon curls may be used to garnish each portion and to add food value, although they do not belong in a strictly vegetarian meal.

Canadian bacon, cut very thin and delicately browned, is served with scrambled eggs for Sunday breakfast. This is, as you know, a very lean type of bacon—a broad strip of lean and a very narrow rim of fat, made from smoked and cured joints of pork rather than from the breast pieces, back or sides of the animal as is our regular breakfast bacon. It is a little more expensive per pound, but does not cook away and is about the same cost per pound of edible material. However, the more familiar breakfast bacon may, of course, be substituted for it, or small squares of salt pork, fried very crisp, may be mixed with the eggs just before serving.

If fresh shrimp is used for the salad for Sunday night, buy one pound raw for four servings. Or one can wet pack, canned shrimp. Shrimp Makes Good Roast.

When buying beef for the roast, buy a rib cut, a sirloin roast or a cut from the shoulder. The latter is the least expensive and in a good grade of meat makes an excellent roast. If a rib cut is preferred, buy according to the size you want, the first, second or third rib, or two or three ribs in one piece. Have the end bones cut off and thoroughly cracked. In a large roast these may be braised and served as "braised short ribs of beef" for a second meal. In a small roast we suggest using them for beef steak. Personally we prefer a standing roast, that is, one with the bones left in, but some people like to have them removed and the roast rolled. In any event, roast the meat in a moderate oven and allow 22 minutes per pound for medium well done, 25-30 minutes for well done.

Sliced cucumbers served with horseradish sauce are a delightful accompaniment to cold roast beef. Slice them very thin and be sure they are crisp and very cold. Arrange on lettuce around the slices of meat and pour over them French dressing mixed with one tablespoon cream and one tablespoon grated horseradish.

Lamb Roast Supreme. Wipe four and one-half or five pounds lamb shoulder roast with damp cloth and rub surface with two teaspoons salt combined with one-half teaspoon pepper and three tablespoons flour. Sear roast in hot oven (500 degrees), then reduce to moderate oven (350 degrees) and bake for two hours. Cut three large green peppers in halves, lengthwise, remove both seeds and fiber and fill with two cups cooked rice combined with one-half cup chopped celery and four tablespoons chili sauce. Place filled peppers around the roast and bake until the peppers are tender (about 40 minutes). Bake frequently. Serve on platter with garnish of parsley.

Golden Loaf. Twelve marshmallows. Two tablespoons pineapple juice. One-half cup whipped cream. Six lady fingers. Three tablespoons crushed pineapple. Two bananas. Heat the pineapple juice and marshmallows until dissolved. Remove from fire and beat until cool. Add whipped cream and beat again. Line automatic refrigerator tray with the lady fingers, then the crushed pineapple, then the banana mixture. Freeze from 2 to 3 hours, until set. When frozen, remove to a plate, cover with whipped cream, and garnish with slices of ripe banana.

An Old Tonic. Asparagus is regarded as a tonic vegetable and was prized by the Romans for its medicinal qualities some 200 years before the Christian bornly maintain that sherbet is a spring dessert, too.

The strawberry market is improving. Berries are beginning to look more like those plump luscious home-grown kinds that make such elegant shortcakes. Strawberries are the logical spring fruit, but the citrus fruits find takers all year round. Fruit combinations, fruit juices, whipped cream, all go to make excellent spring desserts.

Frozen Strawberry Dessert. One quart strawberries. Two eggs, separated. One cup milk. One and one-half cups sugar. One-half cup water. Two teaspoons mild vinegar. Hull and wash berries, and run through a fine sieve. Beat egg yolks slightly, add milk and cook over low heat until the custard mixture coats a silver spoon. Cool. Mix sugar, vinegar and water and cook until the syrup threads. Beat the egg whites stiff, pour the syrup over and beat until stiff and luke warm. Combine all ingredients, blend thoroughly and pour into a freezing tray or pack in ice for five or six hours. Serves six.

Chocolate Floating Island. Three eggs. One-half cake sweet chocolate. Three cups milk. Two tablespoons sugar. One-half teaspoon vanilla. Beat the egg whites to a stiff froth. Heat milk and poach the beaten egg white by tablespoonfuls on the hot milk. Skim them out, set on a plate and prepare the cream by grating the chocolate and stirring into the milk. Boil eight or ten minutes. Remove from fire and the well beaten yolks, re-allowing the mixture to come to a boil. Add sugar and vanilla, pour into a shallow dish, place the islands on the cream and serve cold.

Date Icebox Pie. Two eggs. One-half cup orange juice. One tablespoon lemon juice. One-quarter cup milk. One tablespoon gelatine. One-quarter cup cold water. One-half cup cream. One-half cup chopped dates. Beat egg yolks slightly, add orange and lemon juice and cook over hot water until it thickens. Scald the milk, sprinkle the gelatin on the cold water to soften, dissolve in the hot milk and let cool. When both mixtures are cool combine. Fold in the beaten cream, dates, and stiffly beaten whites.

A GOOD SALAD NEEDS PROPER TOPPING

Seasonings and Additions to Mayonnaise Will Often Work Wonders.

No matter how perfect your salad if the dressing is not up to par you as well as your guests will be disappointed. A great deal can be done with mayonnaise or French dressing, be it home made or purchased. A few additions in the way of seasonings or food items will do wonders when these articles are served with salads.

There are those who stand fast by the rule of French dressing for greens and mayonnaise for fruits and vegetable salads. A green pepper mayonnaise will considerably perk up the greens salad and a cheese mayonnaise will turn plain tomatoes into a party any day.

Green Pepper Mayonnaise.
One cup mayonnaise.
Two tablespoons chopped parsley.
Three tablespoons green pepper, finely chopped.
On small onion, finely chopped.
Blend all ingredients thoroughly. Serve on crisp greens. Makes one and one-fourth cups mayonnaise.

Cheese Mayonnaise.
One package cream cheese.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-half cup Roquefort cheese.
One-half cup mayonnaise.
Blend cream cheese, lemon juice and salt. Force Roquefort cheese through coarse sieve and add alternately with real mayonnaise, beating well. Add cream gradually, beating constantly. Serve with endive, hearts of lettuce, or tomato salads. Makes one and three-fourths cups mayonnaise.

Strawberry Mayonnaise.
(For Fruit Salads.)
One-fourth cup mayonnaise.
One-fourth cup fresh strawberries, hulled and crushed.
One-fourth cup cream, whipped.
Two tablespoons confectioner's sugar.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
To real mayonnaise add strawberries, sugar and lemon juice and fold into whipped cream. Makes three-fourths cup mayonnaise.

Hot Mayonnaise.
(Serve on Vegetables.)
Two tablespoons flour.
Two tablespoons butter.
Dash of pepper.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One cup milk.
One and one-half cups mayonnaise.

Stir flour into butter which has been heated in a saucepan. Remove from direct heat and pour in milk. Stir slowly over direct heat until sauce boils. Season to taste. Put the cup of hot sauce into double boiler and add mayonnaise. Heat mixture thoroughly over hot water about five minutes, stirring constantly, but do not boil.

A Surprise Flavoring.
Add three tablespoons sherry wine or sherry flavoring to cheese soufflé next time you make it. The flavor will be just enough different to provide an agreeable surprise.

Spiced Orange Garnish.
Spiced oranges make a novel condiment to serve with baked or boiled ham. Use three or four small, firm, bright colored oranges. Wash them, stick whole cloves in the surface of the fruit about one inch apart. Make a syrup of two cups sugar and 2 cups water. Drop in the oranges and boil slowly until the orange skin is very tender. Watch to prevent scorching. When tender, remove from the syrup, let drain on a wire rack to remove as much syrup as possible, then cut in halves or quarters and serve with the ham.

To Cook Fresh Peas.
The delicacy and sweetness of cooked peas depend entirely on the way they are prepared. After buying them, they should be kept in a cool dark place until needed. Then shell them, drop into rapidly boiling, slightly salted water, add one teaspoon sugar, cover and boil gently for 20 to 30 minutes or until the peas are tender. Drain if necessary, although if the proper amount of water has been used, it should be almost absorbed by the time the peas are cooked, add butter, a dash of pepper and additional salt if needed. Shake the saucepan to distribute the seasonings and serve hot.

Food Coloring Note.
Cream cheese, colored to suit your color scheme, or to give variety to it, is useful in making afternoon tea sandwiches. Use the liquid or tablet form of coloring or the paste with the appropriately colored finest bit, enough to impart the most delicate tint to the cheese. Flavorings in the way of finely chopped nuts, chopped cucumber, onion juice, ginger, may be mixed with the appropriately colored

HAM MAY BE GOOD TO THE LAST LEFTOVER

Souffles, Sandwich Fillings or One Dish Meals Evolved From Tasty Bits.

Delicious ham dinners from the Easter ham need not end with the Sunday repast. Unless the family is large or the ham small there will be several pounds of cooked ham to be used as a basis for several dinners.

As soon as the baked ham comes back to the kitchen and before it has the least chance to dry out, cut off the ragged pieces left around the bone and cut meat from the shank bone. Put it in a covered refrigerator dish or wrap it in oiled paper to keep it moist and fresh until it is to be used. These are some of the choicest bits of meat, tender and juicy, but dry out quickly if not cared for.

Wrap Ends in Waxed Paper. The large, uncut butt end of ham which may be left should be kept whole and protected from drying by a careful wrapping of oiled paper. This end will yield some whole slices for cold plate service or for reheating in fruit sauce.

In reheating any meat, the most important caution is this—"keep the meat protected from drying." This is simple enough. Instead of reheating slices of baked ham by frying them and drying them out, try reheating them in a delicious raisin or pineapple sauce just long enough to heat them through.

Small Pieces Are Ground. With smaller, unselectable pieces of meat, grind them for souffles, sandwich fillings or omelets, or cut them fine for salads, casserole dishes or creamed mixtures. By tucking them carefully between layers of macaroni, rice, bread crumbs or noodles, or mixing them into soups to be heated over a double boiler, you have eliminated any chance of overcooking or drying the meat.

Some highly appetizing menus can be planned around these left-over ham pieces. The meal-in-one combinations are especially interesting because they need only a crisp salad and a simple fruit dessert to make a highly appetizing dinner.

A casserole of noodles, cream sauce and ham with a bit of chopped pimiento for color takes the place of both meat and potatoes and is most delicious to bite into. Mix a salad bowl of some coarsely chopped celery, tomato and lettuce and dress it with French dressing for the vegetable half of this menu. Add to your menu some fresh or cooked fruit with icebox cookies, and you have a top-notch dinner.

A One-Dish Menu. Perhaps you'd like to try a ham pie, with cooked ham cubes mixed with sauce or ham gravy, a few fresh peas and chopped green pepper and topped with little squares of rich biscuit dough. A tomato jelly salad with Roquefort mayonnaise and some extra hot biscuits with jam probably would complete this menu for most families, but, if you'd like a dessert, try some gingerbread with whipped cream and nuts as a top-off.

Ham Pie. Mix two cups of chopped left-over ham with two cups of rich white sauce, one cup fresh cooked peas and one-half green pepper, chopped. Season well with pepper and a little salt and place in a buttered baking dish. Make a rich biscuit dough by sifting two cups flour with four teaspoons baking powder and three-fourths teaspoon salt, cutting in four tablespoons lard and then adding two-thirds cup milk to make a soft dough. Pat out on a floured board and cut in squares or circles. Place close together over the ham mixture. Sprinkle with paprika and bake for 20 minutes in a 400 degree F. oven.

Ham Noodle Casserole. Two cups ham (cubed). Two cups broad noodles. One and one-half cups medium white sauce. Three-fourths cup mushroom sauce. One tablespoon pimiento. One teaspoon salt. One-half teaspoon pepper. One-half cup buttered cracker crumbs. Cut ham into small cubes. Cook noodles in boiling salted water for 20 minutes. Drain. Make sauce by melting two tablespoons butter, adding three tablespoons flour and one and one-half cups diluted evaporated milk. Stir until thickened. Season. In a casserole, arrange a layer of noodles, then ham, white sauce, mushrooms and pimiento. Top with a layer of buttered crumbs. Bake 40 minutes in a 350-degree F. oven. Serves six.

CHIPPED BEEF AND RICE. One-half pound chipped beef. One cup rice, boiled. Two quarts water. One tablespoon butter. Shred chipped beef with a scissors and cook in a frying pan with the butter until crisp and slightly browned. Combine with the hot boiled rice blending with a fork. Yields five servings.

Fruit Juice for Breakfast. Fruit juice, well chilled, slightly sweetened and made tart by the addition of a little lemon juice, is particularly welcome these early spring days, when the appetite often needs a spur. Pineapple juice, grapefruit, cranberry, grape, or rhubarb juice, as well as combinations of orange and grapefruit, grape and pineapple, pineapple and rhubarb, etc., are all good. Rhubarb juice is obtained by stewing the young stalks of rhubarb in the usual manner, sweetening slightly and straining off the juice. Chill thoroughly.

Lamb Cuts Various.

Lack of cooking skill, and lack of interest in cooking are perhaps most to blame for the lack of variety in meal planning so many people complain. Certainly it is not the fault of our food supply! This lack of variety is especially noticeable in the case of meats. Butchers say that the average housewife thinks that sheep are raised to produce leg of lamb and lamb chops—and, of course, wool! Look over the meat supply next time you go to market and try one of the other cuts—breast of lamb, shoulder, shanks and neck all have possibilities as roasts, for fricassees, ragouts, pot-pies and good Irish stew.

Salad Accessories.

Peanut butter and cottage cheese mixed in the proportion of one part peanut butter to three parts cheese and shaped into balls makes a nutritious and delicious salad. Serve on lettuce or shredded new cabbage with mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing.

kinds of greens, cress, dandelion, greens and lettuce, or shredded cabbage, cress and corn salad makes a savory salad with a dressing of bacon fat, vinegar and minced onion. In selecting greens keep in mind that the darker green leaves are richer in vitamins than the bleached ones.

Salad Season Draws on Markets for "Fixings"

As a nation we may take pardonable pride in the part we have played to advance the salad to the rank of indispensable food items, what with the salad season opening officially next week. We dare not claim all the credit, however, because the ancients were way ahead of us when it comes to salads. Lettuce, endive, onion, radishes and garlic were all part of their salad regimen, taken either to increase the martial spirit (onions), or to cure headaches. That little bag of asafetida that great-grandmother wore around her neck to cure, among other things, spring fever is as old as Omar. The Persians served up tasty, rosy

INVENTOR OF FRUIT MAYONNAISE DID SALAD A GOOD TURN

WHETHER or not you believe that an inspired chef in the little town of Mâcon, France, invented mayonnaise, is beside the point. Whoever invented fruit mayonnaise really did the salad a good turn. Banana Mayonnaise. One cup mayonnaise. One ripe banana. Peel and slice banana and put through a medium mesh strainer. Add to mayonnaise and whip until smooth.

Salad Dressings Not New. There is nothing new under the sun and salad dressings are not the least of these. Salt, oil and vinegar were part of the ancient salad ritual. The art of making salad dressings had achieved such proportion by the time of Louis XII that a company of the finest "sauce-makers" was organized, each type of dressing specified by law, and only accredited members of the organization were allowed to prepare them.

Mayonnaise was invented in France and was first described by Carême, reputed to be one of the greatest cooks who ever lived. Today our salads cover a wide field from the simple greens with tart dressings and including vegetables and fruits both raw and cooked in every possible combination. The cook who has not at least one original salad to her credit has either overlooked her imagination or her market.

Spring Salad. Two calves. One and one-half cups diced cucumber. One cup cubed peeled tomatoes. Two-thirds cup finely cut sweet green pepper.

Lettuce or endive for garnish. Cut calves in half lengthwise, remove seeds, scoop out a small portion of the meat from the stem end and sprinkle cut portions with salt. Combine cucumbers, tomatoes and sweet pepper. Make a dressing by combining four tablespoons vinegar, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon onion juice, one tablespoon catsup, dash of cayenne, one tablespoon granulated sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Blend thoroughly and pour over combined vegetables. Let stand a few minutes and fill calves centers. Cut scooped out portion of calves into slices or cubes and place on top of salads. Place halves on lettuce or endive. Serves four.

Prune Salad. Twenty-four cooked prunes. Two packages cream cheese. Eight slices pineapple. Maraschino cherries. Lettuce.

Stone prunes. Soften cheese with cream if necessary and stuff prunes. Place pineapple on lettuce, arrange three stuffed prunes on each slice. Garnish with bits of maraschino. Serves eight.

Fruit Gingerale Salad. One tablespoon gelatine. One-fourth cup cold water or fruit juice.

Two tablespoons sugar. Two tablespoons lemon juice. One-fourth teaspoon salt. One cup gingerale. One cup fruit.

Sprinkle gelatine in cold water. Place bowl over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add sugar, salt and fruit juices. Cool and add gingerale. Chill and when beginning to thicken add fruit cut in small pieces. Canned pineapple, pears, apricots or cherries or fresh fruit, such as apples, bananas, oranges and grapes, may be used.

Turn into individual molds that have been rinsed in cold water. Have firm unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise to which some whipped cream has been added. Two tablespoons crystallized ginger may be added with the fruit if desired.

Corn Salad. One small can corn, drained. One chopped pimiento. One cup diced celery. Four tablespoons diced sweet pickle.

One teaspoon salt. One-half teaspoon chili powder. One-half cup salad dressing. Turn corn into strainer and let stand until free of juice. Mix other ingredients with corn, adding additional seasoning if necessary. Moisten with salad dressing, chill and serve on crisp lettuce.

Spring Tonic Salad. Six peach halves. One-half package dates. One-half cup pitted raisins. One-fourth cup preserved ginger. Lettuce. Salad dressing. Place large sound halves of peaches (fresh or canned) on cup shaped lettuce leaves. Fill cavity in peach with ball made by pressing together finely chopped dates, nuts and ginger, moistened with ginger or peach syrup. Serve with salad dressing or any preferred salad dressing.

April Salad. One cup cold cooked rice. One teaspoon chopped parsley. Three green onions. Paprika. One cup cottage cheese. French dressing. Lettuce.

Combine chopped green onions, parsley and cooked rice. Marinate with French dressing. Serve on lettuce leaf with a spoonful of cream mayonnaise or any preferred dressing with a dash of paprika. Four servings.

RECIPES FOR NEXT WEEK

Coffee Cake.
Mix one-third cup sugar, one-third cup shortening and three-fourths teaspoon salt with one cup scalded milk. Stir until the shortening is melted, then cool the mixture until it is lukewarm. Mix one yeast cake with one-fourth cup lukewarm water or milk and add to the first mixture. Next stir in two well-beaten eggs and about two and one-half cups flour or enough to make a stiff batter. Beat well, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk, or for about two hours. Beat again, then spread into two well-greased layer cake pans. If liked one cup seedless raisins may be added just before spreading in the pans. Sprinkle with crumb topping. Let rise 30 minutes and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. To make the crumb topping, mix one-half cup flour with one-half cup powdered sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth cup finely chopped nuts and one-third cup butter. Rub all together with a fork or the fingers until crumbly.

Cream Puffs de Luxe.
Put one-fourth cup butter or margarine in a small saucepan with one-half cup hot water and heat to the boiling point. Stir in one-half cup flour all at once and keep on stirring over a slow fire, until the mixture forms around the spoon in a thick paste. Remove from the fire and turn out in a bowl. Cool slightly and add one unbeaten egg. Beat until smooth and velvety, then add a second egg and beat again until perfectly smooth. Drop from the end of a teaspoon onto a greased, flat pan, leaving at least three inches between each puff. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 25 minutes, or until well puffed, crisp and delicately browned. Reduce the heat the last 10 minutes if necessary. Cool the puffs, and fill with ice cream, or other filling. The cream puffs may be baked and iced one day, then split and filled with cream the next day. Makes eight large or 12 small puffs.

Baked Bread and Cheese.
Mash or grate one-half pound soft, sharp cheese and mix with one tablespoon prepared mustard, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and one well beaten egg. Beat one egg and mix with one cup milk. Butter six large slices bread cut one-half inch thick, spread each with a generous layer of the cheese and place in a large, flat, shallow pan. Pour the egg and milk over the bread and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) until the cheese is melted and brown and the bread puffy. Serve at once.

Toasted Coconut Squares.
Spread one-half pound shredded coconut in a shallow pan and bake in a slow oven until a golden brown, stirring it occasionally during baking so that it will brown evenly. Cool and chop fine. Cut sponge, angel or plain loaf cake in squares about one and a half inches. Spread top and sides with butter icing and roll in the toasted coconut. Garnish the center of each cake with a candied or maraschino cherry.

Butter Icing.
Cream one-quarter cup sweet butter and gradually work in one and a half cups sifted confectioners' sugar and two tablespoons heavy cream or evaporated milk. Beat to a creamy mixture and add, if necessary, a little more sugar to make the consistency of stiff whipped cream. Flavor with a few drops almond extract.

Grapefruit-Shrimp Salad.
Peel and slice two medium sized grapefruits or use a can of grapefruit sections, well chilled and drained of the juice. Chill two cups canned or fresh cooked shrimp, clean them, and then let them stand in one-half cup well seasoned French dressing for 30 minutes. Drain, mix with one cup finely cut celery, three large stuffed olives cut in slices and one-third

RECIPES FOR NEXT WEEK

Coffee Cake.
Mix one-third cup sugar, one-third cup shortening and three-fourths teaspoon salt with one cup scalded milk. Stir until the shortening is melted, then cool the mixture until it is lukewarm. Mix one yeast cake with one-fourth cup lukewarm water or milk and add to the first mixture. Next stir in two well-beaten eggs and about two and one-half cups flour or enough to make a stiff batter. Beat well, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk, or for about two hours. Beat again, then spread into two well-greased layer cake pans. If liked one cup seedless raisins may be added just before spreading in the pans. Sprinkle with crumb topping. Let rise 30 minutes and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. To make the crumb topping, mix one-half cup flour with one-half cup powdered sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth cup finely chopped nuts and one-third cup butter. Rub all together with a fork or the fingers until crumbly.

Cream Puffs de Luxe.
Put one-fourth cup butter or margarine in a small saucepan with one-half cup hot water and heat to the boiling point. Stir in one-half cup flour all at once and keep on stirring over a slow fire, until the mixture forms around the spoon in a thick paste. Remove from the fire and turn out in a bowl. Cool slightly and add one unbeaten egg. Beat until smooth and velvety, then add a second egg and beat again until perfectly smooth. Drop from the end of a teaspoon onto a greased, flat pan, leaving at least three inches between each puff. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 25 minutes, or until well puffed, crisp and delicately browned. Reduce the heat the last 10 minutes if necessary. Cool the puffs, and fill with ice cream, or other filling. The cream puffs may be baked and iced one day, then split and filled with cream the next day. Makes eight large or 12 small puffs.

Baked Bread and Cheese.
Mash or grate one-half pound soft, sharp cheese and mix with one tablespoon prepared mustard, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and one well beaten egg. Beat one egg and mix with one cup milk. Butter six large slices bread cut one-half inch thick, spread each with a generous layer of the cheese and place in a large, flat, shallow pan. Pour the egg and milk over the bread and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) until the cheese is melted and brown and the bread puffy. Serve at once.

Toasted Coconut Squares.
Spread one-half pound shredded coconut in a shallow pan and bake in a slow oven until a golden brown, stirring it occasionally during baking so that it will brown evenly. Cool and chop fine. Cut sponge, angel or plain loaf cake in squares about one and a half inches. Spread top and sides with butter icing and roll in the toasted coconut. Garnish the center of each cake with a candied or maraschino cherry.

Butter Icing.
Cream one-quarter cup sweet butter and gradually work in one and a half cups sifted confectioners' sugar and two tablespoons heavy cream or evaporated milk. Beat to a creamy mixture and add, if necessary, a little more sugar to make the consistency of stiff whipped cream. Flavor with a few drops almond extract.

Grapefruit-Shrimp Salad.
Peel and slice two medium sized grapefruits or use a can of grapefruit sections, well chilled and drained of the juice. Chill two cups canned or fresh cooked shrimp, clean them, and then let them stand in one-half cup well seasoned French dressing for 30 minutes. Drain, mix with one cup finely cut celery, three large stuffed olives cut in slices and one-third

Number of Persons Affected Is Estimated at 1200 in 25 Communities.

By the Associated Press.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 26.

The epidemic of pastry poisonings spread yesterday from Westchester County, where more than 600 cases were reported, to the Bronx and Putnam counties and Greenwich, Conn.

As authorities estimated the total number of persons poisoned at 1200 in 25 communities, reports of 11 cases in Greenwich, Conn., seven in Poughkeepsie, Putnam and 16 in the Wakefield section of the Bronx were received.

Health investigators, however, believed that they had checked the spread by isolating the one bakery from which the pastries had been distributed to a chain of stores and truck routes. It was pointed out all the reported cases were in sections in which the bakery made deliveries.

Authorities said that none of the victims was seriously ill, although a few, suffering from heart ailments, were still patients in hospitals.

LOUIS KAYOES TOLEDO FIGHTER IN SIXTH ROUND

By the Associated Press.
FLINT, Mich., April 26.—Joe Louis, the "brown bomber" heavy-weight from Detroit, knocked out Roscoe Toles, Toledo Negro fighter, in the last round of their six-round bout here last night. It appeared as though Louis could have delivered the deadly punch any time he pleased. Louis weighed 200 to 193 for Toles.

It was Louis' twentieth consecutive ring victory since he joined the professional ranks, and his fifteenth knockout victory.

A crowd of 2000 boomed the exhibition, which almost ended in the second stanza. Toles took a hard left to the head and went down for three counts. As he hit the canvas, his seconds tossed in a towel. Referee Slim McClellan kicked the towel out of the ring, and George

"JUST LIKE TROUPE"
SAYS THE BABE'S WIFE
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK.—Mrs. George H. Ruffalo, wife of Babe, the horse run king, is still a trouper at heart. "Being married to the Babe," she says, "is like being married to a trouper. He expects to have a good time. Home is wherever our horse are."

"Babe is happy in Boston," she probably will do quite well both for himself and the Braves this year, and he expects to have a good time. I don't know whether he'll be home this year, but I'm sure he'll be home to keep the turn of clicking."

Three Substitutes.
When Joe Cronin left Washington for Boston it left a big hole at shortstop. But now Bucky Harris has three men for the job—Lyn Lary, who was obtained in the Cronin deal; Ossie Bluege, former third base regular; and Red Kress, utility infielder.

SPRACUSE, N. Y., April 26.—Coach Jim Ten Eyck, beginning his thirty-fourth year of coaching, has 10 Varsity and three Frosh back from last year's Syracuse University boatings.

Ten Eyck, 83 years old but still able to take it, makes a practice every year of acting as coxswain of the Frosh. Looking over this week, he was ready to give up that seat in the shell to the yearling cox.

The Jayvees won their event at Poughkeepsie last year, and the Frosh finished second. The "Old Man" has the nucleus for two strong varsity crews but is sticking to his custom of not making any pre-season predictions.

The Orangemen have been working out daily on Onondoga Lake since early March. They open May 4 with a quadrangular race with Harvard, Cornell and M. I. T. on the Charles River. The only other meet before the Poughkeepsie regatta in June is an informal race with Cornell here May 25.

The Syracuse Varsity averages 177 pounds and has a height average of six feet, with the exclusion of Coxswain Ralston Weston.

The Jayvee averages 180 in weight and reaches a height average of six feet. Capt. Bartley O'Hearn of Hudson Falls strokes the Jayvees.

The Frosh boating goes close to the Jayvee in physical composition.

Hilmer Stars in Shot Put Event, Roosevelt Wins

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 26.—There is no good reason to believe that greater London, with an estimated population of more than 9,000,000, is not capable of absorbing a championship ship fight between Max Baer and Walter Rothenberg, German promoter, has promised Baer about $300,000 to defend his crown here, and presumably would have to hand Rothenberg another $100,000. To say that London doesn't have that kind of money to spend is eye-wash.

If one is to believe his eyes, there is more loose money floating around England's capital than has been in evidence in New York or any other American city since the years before 1929.

Rothenberg, in outlining to the Associated Press his plans for the Baer-Schmeling bout, pointed out that he would have to sell only 10,000 seats at $40 each to put himself in the clear on his guarantee.

The remainder of Wembley's 80,000 or 90,000 seats he would price moderately, ranging down to $1 for the distant sections.

Will London buy $40 chairs in quantity? One can only look at the records.

For the doubtful privilege of sitting on hard pine boards for several hours on end and watching King George's jubilee procession May 6, many more than 10,000 persons have paid more than $40 each.

Prices for choice seats range up to twice that figure.

No, the $40 seats won't scare them off. There is something in the make-up of England's men of means which impels them to have the best.

It is the same thing which makes them buy a first-class ticket on the subway when a third is just as comfortable. Rothenberg knows all about it.

The record gate for a fight in London is $135,000, set more than 12 years ago by Georges Carpentier and Ted Lewis at Olympia, an outdoor arena. The fact and the figure, observers say, should not be taken too seriously.

In the first place, England is getting in good shape financially. She is willing to spend her money for something that promises real entertainment. Baer is almost as well known here as in America. Few real sportsmen would pass up an opportunity of witnessing a championship scrap.

TRIES TO SHIELD GUARD IN KILLING

Mrs. Birdie Scalfai, 23, Removing Clothes From Line in Basement at Time.

Mrs. Birdie Scalfai, 23 years old, 4237 Evans avenue, was burned on

MRS. ROSA MILLER.

WIDOW'S CONFESSION OF MURDER REJECTED

Mrs. Rosa Miller Attempts to Take Blame in Killing of Ex-Convict.

Mrs. Rosa Miller spent almost five hours last night trying to convince the police that it was she who killed her ex-convict husband, LeRoy Miller, in a brawl last Sunday, but finally admitted she was only seeking to take the blame from Frank Buerger, 27-year-old workhouse guard.

Buerger, who had frankly said that he shot Miller after the former convict had attacked him in the Miller home at 733 Carpenter place, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday afternoon on a charge of manslaughter.

Mrs. Miller, carrying a skirt and shirtwaist which she said she intended to wear while the jail, walked out of the Municipal Courts Building beside Patrolman Peter Nicholas as the grand jury adjourned. On the way out she suddenly stopped and said: "Officer, I want to surrender, I shot him myself."

Statement to Captain. "You can tell that to the Captain," Nicholas replied, and escorted her to the Deyton Street Police Station. There she made her statement to Capt. Mulcahy, declaring she shot Miller with Buerger's revolver when Miller attempted to throw an ash tray at her while on a drunken rampage in their home.

Skeptical of her new account of the killing of Miller, who was released from the penitentiary only four days before he was shot, Capt. Mulcahy sent for Assistant Circuit Attorney McLaughlin. The prosecutor arrived at the police station with Sidney Maestre, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and foreman of the grand jury, and both questioned the woman.

Again and again Mrs. Miller repeated her story. She named two women to whom she said she had told it. Both said, on being taken to the station, that she had made no such statement. Toward 10 o'clock, Buerger was found and taken to the station.

"My Story Stands." "She's not telling the truth," he said. "My story stands. I met the Millers in a saloon Saturday night, went home with them, and shot him next morning when he tried to hit me with an ash tray. I have nothing to hide."

Finally Chief of Police McCarthy arrived at the station and at Capt. Mulcahy's suggestion was left alone with Mrs. Miller, who, arrested 28 times in the last 20 years, was well known to him. In 10 minutes he emerged from the room.

"Rosie was just trying to take the blame to save Buerger from trouble," said the chief, smilingly. "She said he had a clean record and she didn't want it spoiled. Better let her go home."

Mrs. Miller was sentenced to the Workhouse for six months in 1918 for assault in the killing of a man she said she shot in self-defense when he tried to break into her house.

"I always thought Rosie took the rap for someone else in that case, too," the Police Chief remarked as he left the station.

OHIO PWA WORKERS TELL OF FORCED CONTRIBUTIONS

Affidavits Obtained from Laborers at Columbus Are Sent to Secretary Ickes.

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—Affidavits from Columbus PWA workers purporting to show that they were forced to contribute sums ranging from 25 cents to $75 to men who represented themselves as labor union organizers were forwarded to Secretary Ickes at Washington last night.

E. J. O'Donnell, PWA investigator for the city, reported that the affidavits were obtained from workers during an investigation by Federal agents of reports of a shakedown of employees on a sewage disposal plant project.

The statements were sent to Ickes following a conference between O'Donnell, Newton Hayden, a special Federal investigator, and Service Director William R. Luck. Some of the workers have been paying regularly 5 per cent of their wages to out-of-town men representing themselves as union organizers, according to statements obtained by the investigators. One iron worker said he paid this besides a $75 fee and $4 a month dues.

A cement worker told of paying a fee of almost $75 "dues" of $150 a month and 25 cents daily. Other employees reported paying still different amounts, Luck said.

WOMAN BURNED IN EXPLOSION OF GAS; HOME SET AFIRE

Mrs. Birdie Scalfai, 23, Removing Clothes From Line in Basement at Time.

Mrs. Birdie Scalfai, 23 years old, 4237 Evans avenue, was burned on the arms and neck in an explosion of gas in the basement of her home while she was removing clothes from a line at 8:20 o'clock last night.

She ran outside and was taken to City Hospital for treatment. The explosion set fire to the house, causing $600 damage. Firemen reported that there were two more slight explosions.

Workmen employed by Louis J. Cuneo, gas fitting contractor, engaged to perform service work for the gas company since the strike of gas workers, were called and reported there was a leak in a pipe near the gas meter. Mrs. Scalfai said there had been an odor of gas in the basement for several days.

A DOCTOR TALKS OF HEALTH

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

Dr. Clendening

IN the valuable summary of his long years of work in the field of nutrition, the book titled "Food and Health," Dr. Henry C. Sherman points to six concepts as fundamental for the choice of our daily diet:

1. The energy aspect.
2. The proteins and their amino acids.
3. The mineral elements.
4. The vitamins.
5. The interrelationships among these various factors.
6. The principle that our most significant concern is with the nutritional reactions of the living body as a whole—as a co-ordinated whole (in some respects, at least) is more than a mere summation of its parts.

These principles are of importance for the housewife to keep in mind. Economic food is not necessarily cheap food. And expensive food is not necessarily nutritious food. Modern nutritional science has placed a place for them in the post-war world which will enable her to plan well balanced and scientific food for her charges at nearly any economic level.

Energy Aspect. So far as the first—the energy aspect—of the dietary is concerned, experiments were made at the beginning of this century on the "man in the copper box," which showed exactly how much energy would be yielded to the "man in the street" from the various kinds of food-stuffs. In general, we know that starches, sugars, fats and proteins all yield energy.

Proteins, however, which, chemically, are made up of combinations of amino-acids, have essentially another role to play in nutrition. They are needed to build tissue. What is left over from our protein intake, not actually used to build tissue, will act as an energizer. Thus there is a considerable leeway on the question of HOW MUCH protein is required, and habit has much to do with it. The different kinds of amino-acids, however, have been found to vary in their value, and certain are necessary for buoyant health.

The importance of the mineral elements in diet has become increasingly emphasized as medical research has shown their action. To arrange a place for them in the diet is, in fact, more important for humans than for farm animals, on account of the tendency to refinement of food prepared for mankind. Iron, calcium, phosphorus, iodine and salt must all be part of a well-balanced diet.

Thyroid Action. Along with the emphasis on mineral products has come that on the vitamins, those elusive elements in food which are so necessary for complete health. But the mere fact that all these elements are present in the diet does not, by any means, exhaust the possibilities of the way in which they can act—their interrelationships. Thus the energy balance of the body is speeded up by the action of the secretion of the thyroid gland, which depends for its full activity on a plentiful supply of the mineral iodine. The proper use of the minerals, calcium and phosphorus, depend for their action on the presence of vitamin D.

These are only instances of the many inter-relationships that make the sixth concept important—that it is the reactions of the whole body during its entire lifetime that we need to keep in mind.

W. C. FIELDS

FROM TRAMP JUGGLER TO STAR IN MOVIES

By H. H. NIEMEYER

CHAPTER THREE. HOLLYWOOD.

ONE can never pin W. C. Fields down to talking seriously. We tried to get him to tell about how he proposed, when he came back home with a bank roll garnered at the Municipal Opera in St. Louis, to make movies himself. Bill would only go into it in a general way.

"I'm tired of reading," he said, "what a lot of directors have to tell about how movies should be made. It's all a lot of wishful thinking, and they try to make it sound hard. When you come down to it, it's the easiest thing in the world. And here's how:

"First you take a story—any old story will do. For instance, 'Little Red Riding Hood.' Well, you look yourself in a room with a lot of fellows and hang out an 'In conference' sign. Then you get together and tell stories, play bridge and match nickels.

"When you get through, it will have been decided to modernize the story by having 'Little Red Riding Hood' as a small town girl. Instead of going to visit her grandmother, they change the latter character into New York City. Well, the girl goes to the Big City, and who do you think she meets? Why, the Big Bad Wolf, of course. But this time he is a wealthy Wall Street banker. Get the symbolism? The Wolf of Wall Street, no less.

"Anyhow, things come to a pretty pass by changing the woodcut into a wealthy young lumberman from Oregon, and the basket of cookies and jam into the 'poop' that you're ready to shoot. To accomplish the latter you use a camera, if one is procurable. If not, a hand organ or a coffee grinder will do. It doesn't matter in what sequence you shoot the story. The actors will never know the difference, but it is best to start from the end and work backwards so that they will get the wrong impression from the beginning instead of mixing them up in the middle.

"When you're through with all this buffoonery, the picture should be cut—preferably right up the middle. This consists of cutting the film in sections, making it with spaghetti and mushroom sauce, and serving hot before the censors can get at it.

"Then comes the matter of release. This is best accomplished by taking an exhibitor out, hitting him lightly over the head and having him sign an agreement that, even at the risk of life and limb, he will show the picture in his theater. "When the picture opens, stand in the lobby and stop the people as they come out—even if there are three or four of them. Ask them how they liked the picture, and if they will speak to you at all, or aren't too busy asking for their money back, you will get what is known as 'audience reaction.'

"When the exhibitor gets through with you, add the doctor's bill to the number on your automobile license plate plus what the picture actually cost you, and the sum total, which is known as 'net loss' can be deducted from your next year's income tax statement.

And a tennis court. And a gold-fish pond. It is all so pastoral. "You should see me behind my patient, plodding mules as I harry the fields. I think harry is the word. The only trouble comes when the mules go on one side of a tree and I steer the plow on the other. But these are only minor matters. "I love nature; beautiful, bounteous, beneficent nature. I love the sun and the moon and the stars. I love the soft winds and the gentle dripping rain. So darn much rain dripped over that dirt road up to my house that I was marooned for two days. But I still love nature.

"It thrills me deeply to see the little stalks of wheat, the tiny some-thing-others of wheat, pushing their way up through the ground into the sunlight. I enjoy my trees and my vegetables and my flowers. I even like the animals. I have one potato patch that I planted just to keep a little family of potato bugs fed during the winter. "There, in my little home, I am away from the hustle and the bustle of this work-a-day world. There is peace, and quiet, and solitude in the country. Nothing but the mooing of the cows, the neighing of the horses, the grunting of the pigs, and the crowing of the fowls, the cackling of the hens, the chirping of the crickets, the buzzing of the bees, the howling of the coyotes, the infernal twittering of the dratted birds and the clunk of a lot of one-lung pumping motors to keep a feller awake. As I say, it's all so calm and serene and peaceful and quiet.

"In my own quiet way I am attempting a few experiments in vegetation. I am attempting to do a few things that the late Luther Burbank left undone. I do this at night, because my picture work keeps me at the studio during the day. "For one thing, I am watering my orange trees with gin instead of water. Then all I have to do is squeeze the juice into a glass. "I am also perfecting a type of asparagus that will be a boon with humanity. I am crossing the asparagus with raisins. The iron in the raisins will cause the asparagus to assume an erect position and it will be a joy, rather than a feat, for a contortionist to eat.

"When I am through with these little things, I plan to develop a watermelon with the seeds in the center like a cantaloupe, and also an ear of corn with handles. "Being in a picture, I haven't much time to devote to these scientific achievements, however; but just give Fields a chance. What he starts, he finishes."

A crime, unbelievable, has been reported from Texas. Howard Pierson, 20 years old, killed his mother and father, then shot himself in the arm, pretending robbers had done it.

After police had kept him awake for awhile he confessed, said he did it "for revenge." He did it actually, authorities say, that is an example for some whose dismal frequent howlings through the ether suggest that same canis latrans.

The fact that earthly justice can only hang such a criminal or kill him by electricity, makes you glad that something more thorough may await him in the hereafter.

The rumors that George Raft and Virginia Peine may get married cannot be true because George hasn't yet obtained his marital freedom. In fact, she was all set for the getaway when she was called back to play the feminine lead in "Not On Your Life," opposite Warren William. The reason Del Rio didn't leave is because she has one of her few American roles and that is what she has been asking for. She plays a Broadway stage actress, and she and Warren William will

And there are times when his ideas get him down—but he's apparently made a study of professional wrestlers. He knows how to take care of himself in a fake bout.

Q. AND A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Sympathetic Aunt Bella: What will be the outcome of this public debt that is piling up, piling up, piling up all the time? Where is it all going to end? What will be done about the matter in the years to come when the youth of today will have to shoulder the burden?

—Mother of Five.

Ans.—Well now, Sir, or Madame "Mother of Five," unless the youth of today is bigger chumps than Auntie takes them for they will pass it on to the youth of tomorrow. —A. ("Visionary") Bella.

Statestmen that you meet in bars Hand out very bad cigars.

Popovers (A Dozen). Two cups flour. One teaspoon salt. Four eggs. One tablespoon butter, melted. Two cups milk. Mix ingredients and beat three minutes. Half fill hot greased iron muffin pans or baking dishes. Bake 20 minutes in hot oven. Lower fire and bake 15 minutes. Serve immediately with butter.

Safe Measures When using a chafing dish always place it on a tray before lighting the flame. A slight draft will frequently cause the flame to flare out and an unprotected table cover or dolly underneath will readily catch fire.

Rapid Work Break the egg whites onto a plate that has been rinsed with cold water, but not dried. Add a pinch of salt. Then stand by an open door or window while whipping. The whites will be stiff in no time.

Problems of Etiquette for Young Folks

Practical Gift Is Best for Traveler—Expressing Thanks.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post: BEST friend of mine is going to travel in foreign countries for several months and I would like very much to give him something to put the same in his pocket. I realize that a book would be suitable but I don't know what he likes best to read, and anyway most of his spare time will be spent in taking pictures because a camera is his obsession. Do you think it would be nice to give him a lot of films or do you think it would be nice to give him an album to keep his collection together? I have seen a lovely one and I thought I might have this marked for him personally and with the time of his trip.

Answer: Films would be excellent, I think. But an album would, in my opinion, be a perfect nuisance—unless you send it to him long enough before he sails so he can leave it at home and yet know that it will be waiting for his pictures when he gets back. But an essential bulk is the one thing that an experienced traveler avoids above all things.

Dear Mrs. Post: Must I say "Thank you" to a boy after I've been out with him? Mother says I must and I can't bring myself to thank any boy for taking me somewhere.

Answer: It is only commonest politeness to say "thank you" to everybody and for everything given you or offered you or done for you. This does not mean that thanks must be gushing or fulsome. Or perhaps "thank you" is only implied: "Good night, Tommy; I've had a lovely time." Or "Good night, Tommy, and thank you." Or if he says, "Thank you, Mary, for going with me," she of course answers, "Thank you, Tommy, for asking me." As in nearly everything we say the words "thank you" can be almost rude in their coolness, or loving, or cloying saccharine, or clingingly ardent—but through all our lives (if we are polite) we say them tens of thousands of times and with endlessly varied inflections.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a girl of 17 and would like to go from New York to Boston with a boy who is two years older. We are very good friends and have been invited to visit the same people.

Answer: If you are going in the daytime—certainly! But it would not do at all to travel by night boat or in a sleeping car.

Robert Kane's next, and of course, the leading lady in the picture as well. This is the long deferred drama for which Jack Warner loaned the demure little Muir.

Chatter. Marlene Dietrich and Josef von Sternberg created considerable at the Trocadero. They haven't been seen together for a long, long time. That reminds me, von Sternberg remains at Paramount as a producer and director of his own pictures but he will not again direct Marlene Dietrich, since Paramount feels that Marlene's future should be guided by another directorial genius. Joe, himself, is apparently willing to develop another star. I was wondering the other day why we hadn't heard John Boles sing lately. He will have three songs in "Orchids to You." Shirtwaist Clifton blouses with huge bishop sleeves which fall in soft folds are among new Paris models. Most of them are white, trimmed with white lace, but one is black chiffon with big white daisies applique.

PUBLIC NOTICE LANDLORDS TAKE WARNING: O. Fuller, dealer in Second-Hand Furniture, corner of Sansome and California Streets (upstairs) has paid us three months' rent of said premises (due in gold) in Legal Tender Notes, at par—Six Hundred and Eighty dollars. BRADSHAW & CO.

PUBLIC NOTICE TENANTS TAKE WARNING: Bradshaw & Co. leased me their dirty, leaky, old cockloft for $240 per month in April, 1933, under a promise to put the same in tenable condition—which promise they refused to keep, by which I lost in making repairs and damage to furniture more than $600; and because I demanded some compensation my rent was increased to $1000 per month, and I was forced to quit at an additional loss of more than $500. I only regret that the $3000 which I gave them in gold had not been paid in the greenest kind of greenbacks. O. FULLER.

TAKE NOTICE OF HIM! Toney Oakes, proprietor of the Crystal Springs Hotel, has paid his tailor's bill, which was twelve months standing to $127, in greenbacks, which was contracted at gold price. For particulars apply to CHRS. STALLMAN, Merchant Tailor, 424 Montgomery st.

"I know Huey Long," says Clarence Darrow, "and admire him for fighting his ideas."

We all admire him for fighting for his ideas—albeit it's a little alarming the way he uses a black-jack.

Of course the fight he made for his ideas at Sands Point wasn't so good.

And there are times when his ideas get him down—but he's apparently made a study of professional wrestlers. He knows how to take care of himself in a fake bout.

Healed by millions as the outstanding leader to health and joy after marriage.

Q. AND A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Sympathetic Aunt Bella: What will be the outcome of this public debt that is piling up, piling up, piling up all the time? Where is it all going to end? What will be done about the matter in the years to come when the youth of today will have to shoulder the burden?

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By Martha Carr

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM a girl 15 years old, a daily reader of your column, and I am very much interested in what you say. Do you know any one who can tell me how to make a dress, inexpensively? I have heard girls saying about it, but I would be keen if she could tell me.

Every time I suggest it to mother she says she cannot afford it. I have sisters and only one brother, so it is anything but graceful. I am a mother nor daddy know anything about it.

My name is "Katherine," and my mother will not allow me to call myself a short name. I am called "Kate," "Pussy," "Kat," and really hurts me. My mother says I have such a pretty name, but friends all have short names.

My Carr, do you know any way I could meet some nice young man? I would like to, but I am not old enough to do so, about 15, 16 or 17 years old?

TROUBLED.

And may I ask, why these friends of mine do not try to teach me? It seems to me this is the way they could do. Not everyone has professional instruction, by means. Ask them to help you.

Your name is pretty and you will be glad, when you are older, that your mother stuck it out that way. Do not use a diminutive. If you use this now, probably you will never be able to get your name to remember "Katherine" and you made up your mind you would.

I am afraid the blond boys would be very complimentary, since I have named them second choice. Because there is always the dye in it, it is not so much trouble to change hair: still, I do think that blondes and heroines are very popular now, so if there are any blondes, after this is published, I hope the matter of introductions will be advised.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM attending a week-end party and I would like to know what to wear. I am wearing a yellow dress, but I am there. I am wearing a yellow dress, but I am there. I am wearing a yellow dress, but I am there.

My cousin, who is 15, will graduate in May from the ninth grade. He is 5 feet 7 inches tall. Would a sports dress or a more dressy one be best?

PERPLEXED.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM going to a dance the second week in May. Would you wear a black crepe, with white collar, white blue print or a rose-colored dress also, what kind of shoes?

ANXIOUS.

The light blue or rose would be better than black for the dance. Black pumps would be all right for other dress, you can buy these on a second order, unless you must have them for service as well as dress occasions. If you wish to wear your costume still lighter, wear white sandals or pumps that can wear later with summer shoes.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I WOULD like to have you print my letter in your column in the hope that it will help me to know how to make a dress, inexpensively. I have a cat and two kittens and, as I am leaving town, I have to give them away. I do hope I can find really good homes for them. I really appreciate it if you would let me know if you have any requests.

MRS. H. P. M.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I HAVE been in the city hospital for a fracture and now am very much in need of a walking cane. If any of your readers have one they could spare and give it to me, it would be very much appreciated.

SHUT-IN.

Fabrics Used In Novel Ways In New Styles

Popular in Shoes to Complement Tailored Suits for Spring.

By Sylvia Stiles

NOW that shoes are made of dress materials and hats are made of leather, who can blame a conscientious follower of fashion trends for being slightly confused?

As the spring season advances, there appears more and more convincing proofs that the smartest costumes are the ones that have an inconsistent quirk to them. Fabrics, especially, contribute to this impression; the more novel their uses, the more attractive an ensemble becomes. So in selecting any new clothes the woman with style wisdom will look for eccentricities and see that a few are included in her wardrobe.

Not many years ago a fabric shoe was reserved for midsummer or for quite formal occasions, but today it is as likely to complement a tailored suit as an evening gown. Cotton materials are appearing as after-Easter favorites and again there is a tendency to rush the season by wearing white or quite light footwear in April. Look for novelty crash and even for pique, and don't be surprised to find it offered in strange colors and keeping company with leathers.

Since less leather is being used for shoes the milliners are doing their best for the industry. Among the most striking of chapeaux for late spring and summer is one which has a crown of pigskin in an off-white tone and a rolling brim of straw. Chamois crowns and trimmings also give evidence of the new season's fashions, and of course patent leather is so firmly established in the millinery world that it is taken much for granted.

Organdie and pique, once used almost exclusively for summertime frocks, now are equally as important for hats. Look closely at a stunning wide-brimmed model in one shop and discover that it is composed of alternating strips of organdie and straw. Another is a stately patent leather for straw and claims distinction. As for the pique hats, they are everywhere—white ones predominating but pink and blue are of decided interest.

Linen hats also look like they should withstand spring showers. When it comes to novel uses of fabrics in costumes first prize for originality should go to lace. No one could find a prettier example for choosing a dress wrap than who wants to be practical when there are such exquisite creations. The cape is the favorite but its style and length differ. Those that reach the knees are dramatic and therefore in demand.

There is little sense but plenty of style to a lace jabot that is dyed a beetroot shade. It appears on a dark sheer daytime dress and is tied as severely as though it were made of fur. Tailored frocks and suits of lace defy their frivolous fabrics as successfully by being sedate and even severe in their manner.

While lace may be said to have gone down to lower levels since it has so many new casual uses, gingham has been moving upward in the scale. Years ago a gingham frock was a stamp of utility but today it is a badge of smartness. Evening dresses that look as though a French courtesier had handled them are made of modest ginghams. Suits, both formal and informal also employ this fabric.

The Guatemalan influence on fashions is bringing some surprising designs and color combinations into costumes. Jackets that look as though they had been snatched from breakfast tables, scarfs which suggest peasant headresses and belts of gay hue are typical of the trend.

Fish nets are difficult to find near the water now because they and their stylish duplicates are being used for dresses, hats and even shoes. The mesh influence on clothes is quite pronounced and shows evidence of increasing popularity as the season advances.

When it comes to costume trimmings, the novelties are here in great abundance. Mop fringe trims a summer dress, and there are Mexican beans used as buttons on another—but that is a different story.

Cooking Care

Sometimes the success of cooking and preparing special dishes has more to do with watching out for certain pitfalls than anything else.

For example in making jelly salads, all your measurements must be very exact.

Nor should you ever let your gelatin boil, although you should make sure that the liquid in which it is dissolved has boiled. Another point to watch is that the gelatin should be partly substituted before fruit, vegetables or whatever you are using, are added.

OLD HOUSES

A St. Louis Artist Will Preserve Them on Canvas

"House Partly Destroyed by Fire," a painting by Thalinger.

E. OSCAR THALINGER

BECAUSE the faded charm of old houses has a decided claim on the interest of E. Oscar Thalinger, artist and registrar of the St. Louis Art Museum, he is devoting much of his leisure time to the recapture of that charm on canvas.

"Old houses in St. Louis are a rapidly passing reminder of a dead past that is not quite dead," he said. "They remain for a time as monumental antiquities, interesting because of their architectural lines and the patinas of age. Whether of log, rock, frame or brick, each represented a period in American architectural development of a people aspiring towards a new art ideal or a new era of vitality."

He said that he credited his interest in old houses to his long association with antiques at the Art Museum. He admires the rich, mellow tones of an old house just as a connoisseur is interested in the natural patina of an old rug or bronze vase. The beauties of the roadside to Thalinger are ancient partly demolished homes, aged structures often crude to the average eye or an old building that has seen its day and is being torn down to make way for a brighter new filling station. He motors for hours to find his subjects, which range from log cabins to once famed mansions covered with the smoke and grime of a century.

"To me there is nothing more interesting to paint and to contemplate than an old house," he said. "As Stevenson said in an essay, 'One place suggests work, another idleness, a third early rising and long rambles in the dew. Some places speak distinctly. Certain dark gardens cry aloud for a murmur; certain old houses demand to be haunted.' To Thalinger they all cry aloud their demand to be painted."

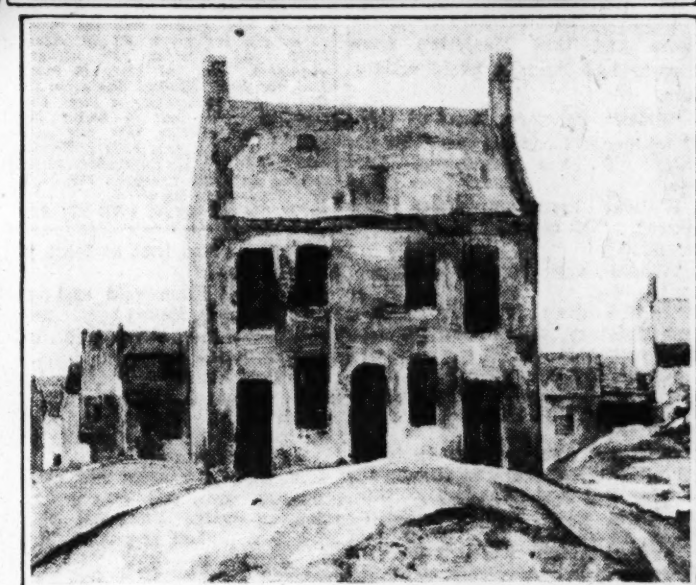

"How indigenous to the soil and locality of our Ozarks were the early log and mud-plastered houses, then the rock almost as enduring as the very hills. How well these homes interpreted the pioneer, the early settler. How truthfully their crude rehabilitation interprets the huge billboards and its brick walls are covered with smoke. It was built in about 1850 and according to St. Louis authorities it is one of the best examples of pre-Civil War architecture in St. Louis. At that time the neighborhood was one of the most fashionable in the city. Many names of St. Louisans prominently identified with the early history of St. Louis, as the Garrison and Wainwright families lived in this particular section of St. Louis. That part of town was owned by William Morrison, a lumberman, who built the house and for whom the street was named. The house consists of three stories, with a double balcony at the front and a balcony at the south. The rust old grill work is in the form of vines and the house is supposed to be copied after the first New Orleans homes.

At Twelfth and Delmar street, Thalinger painted a gaunt, skeleton-like double house that goes back to another century. He calls this one "The Skull."

"There it stood," said the artist, "vacant and condemned after having served all these years, now ready to be destroyed. It is painted in deep tones that only time gives a building and contrasts with a dull gray sky."

The other photograph is a house portrayed from memory that the artist said might be found in almost any place in old St. Louis. As is pictured it is partly destroyed by fire. "Yellow skies blend strangely with old charred walls left standing. An iron fence lawn in the foreground, green with the freshness of new grass, checks but does not wholly remove the ominous feel that comes to the spectator. The salvaged furniture and the rooms so pathetically demolished expose

"Two of Thalinger's compositions. 'The Lace House' at top, and below, 'The Skull.'"

He was born in Alsace Lorraine and studied art in Munich. For 22 years he has been registrar at the Art Museum and among his other duties he often has charge of special exhibits. He is chiefly a landscape painter but enjoys painting mountains and city views of somewhat subjective nature. He paints for pleasure solely. Thalinger has served on numerous juries at exhibits. It was while serving on such a jury for the Missouri State Fair that he was instrumental in awarding three prizes to Grant Wood, who has since become a well known painter. This was Wood's first recognition and he was awarded the sweepstake, water color and exhibition prizes.

Thalinger's work was included in the Exhibition of Native Element of Contemporary American Painting circulated by the American Federation of Arts in 1934 and the Painting and Sculpture Exhibition of 16 American Cities circulated by the Museum of Modern Arts in 1934.

Life's Melodies That Everyone Cannot Express

By The Rev. J. F. Newton

"BEEHOTHEN played badly," one of his biographers records, when in 1815 he played in public for the first time. "The strings of the piano were nearly cracked and some notes were almost inaudible."

Beethoven! The greatest musician that ever lived, whose genius called into being more heavenly melodies than were ever heard by any one mind on this earth! Yet he played badly that last night!

Was it because he was old, and his hands were less dexter in striking the notes he knew so well? Or was it due to the deafness that afflicted him in middle life and deepened each year until the end?

In part, perhaps. For even the most godlike of men grow old, their swift skill slows down, and their magic is lost. Age dulls the spirit, but that was not the real reason why the master played badly.

Not at all. The reason was that he was trying to play a sonata in "a miserable little box of wires, hardly more sonorous than a spinet." It was an inadequate instrument that made the jangled music.

As his biographer adds, "Born into a day of small things, he helped the day to expand by giving it creations beyond the scope of its available means of expression. He was an emancipator of humanity."

The sonata, as a musical structure, had been known for 200 years before, but Beethoven enlarged and enriched it, lifting it into undreamed-of associations of power and loveliness.

Yes, he was an emancipator. He took an old form of music, baptized it in the gleaming waters of his genius and forced men to invent new instruments to express the majesty of his God-illumined art.

May not this be true of much of the discord of life, whether it be in our own hearts or in the world about us? There is music in life, unheard melodies, but our poor instruments are not equal to it.

All the time that mighty music is flowing and throbbing through the world, seeking to heal us with its harmony, waiting for a finer skill of the art of living to give us the benediction of beauty!

As You Sow, So Shall You Weep

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

THE Government tree planters are still out on the reservations making two fence posts grow where but a sapling bloomed before. Tree planting is not exactly a tough job. You dig a hole, plant the sprout and then come back in 10 years to see how it's going along. It takes about that time to tell the difference between a mighty oak and just a bush. Home gardening is different. It's different because you get results quicker if you get results. We hammered 39 different brands of vegetables into the backyard terrace and forgot to label them. We don't know what they will be until they come up. And we don't know how they are getting along until they do come up. Last year we did the same thing and the only harvest we reaped was a full crop of body squeaks from bending over in the hot sun and cold rains.

Petroleum Firm Chauffeur and Officer Held After Driver Tells of Dumping 1500 Gallons of Oil in Mill Creek Duct.
FIVE PWA MEN IN SERIOUS CONDITION
Two Explosions Followed by Blaze, Caused by One of Crew of Truck Throws Match on Wreck After Lighting Cigarette

Four PWA workmen were injured by a fire in a condition from burns today as a result of the explosion yesterday in the Mill Creek Sewer caused by accidental ignition of a mixture of gasoline and fuel oil which had been pumped into the duct. Felix Nischbach, a chauffeur for the St. Louis Petroleum Corporation, said today that he had pumped the mixture into the sewer in the morning and yesterday afternoon. He said that he had been directed by Sidney H. Dubois, secretary-treasurer of the corporation, to pump the mixture into the sewer. Dubois was held under $15,000 bond yesterday May 3 in Court of Criminals, as also was Dubois. The coroner's inquest was held today.

Nischbach said that in the morning he had pumped about 700 gallons of gasoline into the sewer. He said that he had been directed by Dubois to pump the mixture into the sewer. He said that he had been directed by Dubois to pump the mixture into the sewer. He said that he had been directed by Dubois to pump the mixture into the sewer.

How Police Found Soot. Police immediately began to try to determine the cause of the combustion. Two hours after the explosion, Nischbach was stopped at the entrance of the yard of the Transport Co. by a man who noticed a power pump on his tank truck. Under questioning, he told that he had just finished putting gasoline into a tank of fuel oil and gas. He said that he had been directed by Dubois to pump the mixture into the sewer.
